PEOPLE TO DECIDE FINANCIAL POLICY OF WATER DEPARTMENT

OH-H-H! HERE'S ONE REGULAR THRILLER! READ ON—AND ON

WILD YELLS, PLENTY OF RICH, RED BL-L-OOD AND LOTS OF CORPSES! GEE! GOSH!

This is a thriller in three parts—a story of mistaken identity.

All of which culminated in a summary execution of the animal bandit, an axe being used to commit the murder.

The principal role is played by Joe Pagliuso, foreman of the Ross ranch. John Selde takes the part of executioner.

The title of this "piece" should be "A Wild Night Among the Chickens."

Following is a list of casualties:

List of Dead and Others

Twenty-seven dead roosters, hens, pullets, etc.

One murdered wildcat.

Three wildcats trapped and slain.

One coyote caught and scalped.

One raccoon held captive.

Several scared jackrabbits.

The scene of action is in the northern part of Glendale along Verdugo canyon wash, more definitely located as between Glendale avenue and the foothills to the west where the remaining acres of the once great Ross ranch lie in placid orange groves and apricot orchards.

ACT I.

Joe Pagliuso, his wife and son, peacefully residing on the Ross ranch at their pleasant country home, notice their flock of chickens diminishing. They wonder at this and suspect predatory animals are again on the rampage in the neighborhood. John Selde, who works at the ranch, is instructed to set the traps and catch the bandits preying on the barnyard fowl. Another day's work is done and night falls.

ACT II.

Mr. Pagliuso is awakened before 6 o'clock by more than the clarion call of roosters. Pandemonium reigns in the chicken yards with the hens lending their squawks to those of the cockerels. An investigation follows

Miss Margery M'Coy Is Taken By Death

Margery McCoy, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. McCoy, passed away at the home of her parents, 218 North Maryland avenue, shortly after 10:30 o'clock this morning. She had been ill for the past four weeks and had not been entirely conscious for two weeks, although she was not afflicted with the sleeping sickness. She was moved to a Los Angeles hospital the early part of the week, but was brought back home when it was believed that there would be little hope for her recovery. She was an unusually bright and loveable child. Funeral arrangements are awaiting word from relatives in the east and south. Pulliam & Kiefer Undertaking company are in charge.

Regular Menagerie Is Now Being Rounded Up For Noah And His Ark

They're looking for sixty-nine kinds of animals over at Burbank.

Not that such a number has been lost, but the Sacred Films company is getting ready to stuff Noah and his menagerie into the 350-foot ark built on the side of Mount Verdugo.

It's going to be some job to stage this part of the production, according to those working on the mob scenes the first of the week.

Easy enough to handle a mob of men, but when they start leading fifty-seven—or was it sixty-nine—varieties of animals about an imitation ark, it may take more talent than Noah and the dove of peace to stop the riot.

Hey, Officer! Hurry!

"Hey, officer! There's a speeder up on Glendale avenue!"

That was the call Speed Cop Walter Trautwein got at Brand and Broadway and he turned wheel and sped toward the other end of the business district.

Arriving at Glendale avenue he soon found the "speeder."

It was Don Futhey of the Studebaker garage driving a Cleveland tractor along the avenue at a ploughman's pace.

Officer Trautwein thought he ought to be arrested for going so slow, but no complaint has been issued for Futhey to appear in Judge Lowe's court.

High Words Are Said

From a high came the cry of "Police," yesterday afternoon.

People looked up and there on the parapet of Glendale union high school, yes way up on the roof, stood two debaters, George Jordan and Kathleen Campbell, lustily arguing the need of state police.

That is their topic of discussion with University of Southern California high school on March 17. Miss Mona C. Gardner is the teacher directing the battle of words.

Mrs. Colin Cable Gives Dinner Party

Mrs. Colin Cable of 505 South Columbus avenue entertained with a dinner party last night in honor of Mrs. Laura Stevenson Spang of Mt. Washington, Los Angeles, Mrs. John Frazer of Riverdale Drive, Glendale, and Dr. Cable, all of whose birthdays were on March 10.

Mrs. Spang gave several vocal selections, with Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman accompanying her at the piano. Miss Margot Buxton gave some very pretty fancy dances, including "The Chinese Dance," "The Clown Dance" and "The Dance of Joy." Spring flowers were used for decorations, including sweet peas, corn flowers and fresias. The St. Patrick's colors were used at the dining table.

The guests were Mrs. Spang, Mrs. Frazer, Dr. Cable, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Bosserman and sons Charles and Lyman, Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Ashton, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Smith and son Tom, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Turck and grand-daughter Margot Buxton, Miss Brothee and the hostess, Mrs. Cable.

Everett W. Prewett Funeral Held Today

Funeral services are being held at 4 o'clock this afternoon for Everett W. Prewett, aged 37, a Texas oil operator who died here Wednesday after two weeks in Glendale at 1006 East Colorado boulevard. Many beautiful floral offerings bank the casket at the Little Church of the Flowers. The Rev. C. A. Cole of the Central Christian church is officiating and Pulliam & Kiefer are in charge of arrangements. Interment will be in Forest Lawn cemetery.

C. W. Prewett, a brother from San Diego, arrived in Glendale this morning for the services. A sister, Mrs. O. Starmer, who was with her brother at time of his death, also survives.

Mrs. Mira K. Mosher Funeral Service Held

Funeral services are being held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from Pulliam & Kiefer's Undertaking parlors for Mrs. Mira Kibbe Mosher, aged 86, who died at her home in Hollywood on Thursday. The Rev. C. W. Crist of the First Methodist church is officiating and interment will be in Grand View cemetery. Mrs. Mosher was an aunt of Dr. Allen L. Bryant of this city.

DIAMOND ROBBERY WHILE FAMILY IS AT HOME

MRS. MARIE LYON, 806 SOUTH MARYLAND AVENUE, TELLS POLICE OF THEFT

Mrs. Marie Lyon of 806 South Maryland avenue today reported to the police that a diamond ring valued at more than $300 and a diamond brooch valued at $600 disappeared from her home last night between 7 and 9 o'clock.

According to the story told the police, Mrs. Lyon was home all evening and entertained relatives. She believes that a sneak thief entered the bedroom while the family was engaged in conversation and took the jewels from the dresser.

Mystery Enters Case

An element of mystery enters into the ocurrence, however, which baffles both Mrs. Lyon and the police.

Several robberies have occurred in the radius of several blocks from the Lyon's home which lends strength to the theory that a sneak thief is responsible for the disappearance of the gems.

The Taylor Furniture store at 520 East Broadway reported to the police that shoplifters yesterday got away with a pair of opera glasses, one fountain pen and five pocketknives.

Parent-Teachers Of Pacific Avenue Meet

A very good attendance was present at the meeting of the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher association, which met at the school yesterday afternoon. Two vocal solos were given by Mrs. G. D. Roach, accompanied by Mrs. J. A. Wright on the piano, "How Many a Lonely Caravan," an East Indian song, and "The Prayer Perfect."

Miss Anna Irene Jenkins of Los Angeles explained very clearly the origin of the Parent-Teacher organization, dating back to Frederick Froebel's time when the kindergarten was the first to hold mothers' meetings, then the teachers were later drawn in. The war, she said, really brought the Parent-Teacher organization up to its present standard. Before this, though, a national federation was founded during President Roosevelt's term of office. Miss Jenkins emphasized the first duty of the organization as being that of getting the mothers acquainted and second to help in the needs of the school.

After the ladies giving the program had been given a hearty vote of thanks all adjourned to the court and enjoyed a social cup of tea and wafers.

Miss Helen Esterly Hostess At Party

Miss Helen Esterly of 436 Oak street entertained with a party last night in honor of George Nenstiel of Johnstown, Pennsylvania, who is visiting in California for the winter.

The guests included Miss Frances McGill, Miss Elizabeth Bullard, Miss Frances Musser, Miss Mildred Funk, Miss Selma Eger, Miss Elsie Coopman, Miss Bertha Holz, Miss Rose Nelson, Miss Mary Sherrick, Miss Helen Esterly, the hostess and her mother, Mrs. John Esterly, George Nenstiel, Alford Bowman, H. Niebanck, Wilbur Funk, Mr. Blackmore, Fred Hand, Ronald Greenwalt, Charles Moore, Bela Adams, G. A. Wood and John Esterly. The color scheme of the decorations of sweet peas and carnations and refreshments were carried out in pink and white. The evening was spent in music and games. Miss Esterly was assisted in entertaining by her mother, Mrs. John Esterly.

Mrs. J. M. Fife Is Luncheon Hostess

Mrs. J. M. Fife of 517 North Jackson street entertained at luncheon yesterday in honor of Mrs. John Morrow of Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, and Mrs. Elizabeth Cook of Washington, Pennsylvania. Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Cook are cousins of Mrs. Fife and came to California in November to visit a sister at Oakland. The table center piece of sweet peas, bon bon baskets and place cards were all carried out in a pink and white color scheme. Mrs. Morrow and Mrs. Cook are now visiting at Long Beach and will leave next week for their home in Pennsylvania.

LOCAL MEN INSPECT IMPERIAL VALLEY; BUSINESS GOOD

C. C. COOPER AND H. S. WEBB OF GLENDALE FIND BIG ACTIVITY IN DISTRICT

C. C. Cooper, president of the First National bank, and H. S. Webb, of the H. S. Webb Department store, both prominent Glendale men, returned last evening from a visit of several days in the great Imperial Valley.

It was Mr. Webb's first visit to the valley and Mr. Cooper had not been there for eight years.

According to Mr. Cooper the financial situation, which has been quite stringent with the ranchers in that section of the state, has eased up and that prosperity is again ahead.

Both Oil and Lettuce

At Brawley they found all activity in the town centered on getting the early lettuce and melon crops to market while an oil boom is crowding the town with prospectors and promoters who are operating in fields about forty miles north of the city where a discovery well was recently brought in.

This activity, however, extends all over the valley with practically every acre of ground filed upon for its mineral wealth.

Both Mr. Webb and Mr. Cooper were impressed with the possibilities presented in the valley and the "boosting spirit" which is bringing the development there to the forefront.

Mrs. H. G. Hosford Hostess To Club

Mrs. H. G. Hosford of 233 North Central avenue was hostess yesterday to the members of the Milford Street Card club. White flowers and greenery, green balloons, and the refreshments were all carried out appropriate to St. Patrick's day, which is near at hand.

High score at 500 was made by Mrs. L. C. Leppelman. Mrs. Rathbun won the consolation prize, which was a large green balloon. Those present were Mrs. H. A. McPherson, Mrs. R. Vinton of Los Angeles, Mrs. C. H. Thompson, Mrs. J. H. Southard, Mrs. S. C. Leppelman, Mrs. W. N. Rathbun, Mrs. H. B. Fletcher, Mrs. Reed Heustis, Mrs. Fred Deal, Mrs. J. P. Strain, Mrs. Potter and the hostess, Mrs. Hosford.

The next meeting of the Milford Street Card club will be at the home of Mrs. S. C. Leppelman.

Handling Of Waste Is Under Discussion

FIGURES ARE GIVEN ABOUT PLANT BY CITY MANAGER

PREDICTS LARGE EXPENDITURE FOR SERVICE MAINS MUST BE MADE BY CITY

According to figures compiled by T. W. Watson, city manager, there has been no money invested in the Glendale municipal water plant from taxation, either directly or indirectly. The investments at the present time, he says, amount to $466,791.69.

If the present plans of the officials are carried out, the city will have outstanding approximately $600,000 of municipal bonds on account of investments in the water business. The city manager says:

"The time will shortly come if the present growth of the city continues and if that growth is adequately provided for, when possibly 40 per cent of the revenues of the water business will be devoted to bond redemption and interest, leaving 60 per cent to take care of operating expenses, including depreciation, minor investments and extensions and betterments."

Cost for Service Mains

The city manager predicts that it will cost about $730,000 for service mains that, in all probability, will have to be laid within the next fifteen years. He declares:

"If bonds are issued from time to time to cover the cost of these investments, between $600,000 and $700,000 will be added to the city's bonded indebtedness on account thereof within the next ten to fifteen years. If the policy should be adopted of meeting the cost of these investments by the issuance of municipal bonds it should by all means be understood that bond redemption and interest on such bonds would be assessed against the property. In our opinion it would not be good business or equitable as between the users of water and the owners of real estate to require the patrons of the water business to meet this entire expense."

The city manager points out that "if bonds are issued to cover the cost

BOARD OF TRUSTEES DECIDES TO SUBMIT TWO PROPOSITIONS FOR VERDICT OF VOTERS ON MARCH 29

One Plan Provides Service Mains Laid Hereafter Be Paid for by Tax on All City Property; Second, That Property Served Pay Costs

Voters of the city of Glendale will, at the special election to be held March 29, determine the policy to be followed by the Board of City Trustees relative to financing investments in the municipal water business.

The Board of City Trustees, in session last night, unanimously decided to accept the statement prepared by T. W. Watson, city manager, regarding the city's water business, published in full in The Evening News on March 8, accepted an additional statement from him, given in full in this issue of The Evening News, and then agreed to have the city manager and Hartley Shaw, city attorney, draft a new and condensed statement for submission to the people in pamphlet form, together with a sample ballot on which will be two propositions, one of which will be given a majority vote by the people and adopted by the trustees as the policy to be used in the water department.

The vote will, of course, be informal. It will be a "straw ballot" cast by the people to point out to the Board of City Trustees which business policy the majority of the people, the "stockholders" in the municipal water business, desire put into effect.

Two propositions will appear upon a separate ballot which will be voted on at the special election March 29, when the charter proposed by the board of freeholders and the several bond issues, totaling $275,000, for a civic center and the water department improvements, will be passed upon by the voters.

Propositions Submitted

The two propositions to be submitted to the voters, as decided upon by the trustees last night, are as follows:

"Proposition No. 1: All service mains installed hereafter within the city of Glendale shall be paid for from the proceeds of general municipal bonds and all bond redemption and interest on account of such bonds shall be met from a tax levied on all of the accessible property of the city.

"Proposition No. 2: All service mains installed in the city of Glendale hereafter shall be paid for by

Propositions To Be Voted Upon

The Board of City Trustees last night adopted a resolution by which it agrees to follow a policy regarding the financial affairs of the municipal water department fixed by the voters of the city.

Two propositions will be submitted to a "straw" vote of the people at the special election to be held March 29. One of these propositions will receive a majority vote. That will be the financial policy adopted by the trustees. The two propositions are:

"Proposition No. 1: All service mains installed hereafter within the city of Glendale shall be paid for from the proceeds of general municipal bonds and all bond redemption and interest on account of such bonds shall be met from a tax levied on all of the assessable property of the city.

"Proposition No. 2: All service mains installed in the city of Glendale hereafter shall be paid for by assessment on property served thereby."

Members of the La Canada Thursday club were the guests yesterday of Mrs. Max Green of 140 South Jackson street. After the regular business meeting papers and a discussion on home economics were taken up. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Green, who was assisted by her mother, Mrs. B. D. Decorations of red carnations and orange calendulas, carrying out the club colors of crimson and gold, were used.

Additional Room Is Needed For Business

Brick masons are busy building an additional room on the front of the Edwards & Wildey real estate office at 129 North Brand. Materials for three other structures along Brand boulevard are being delivered today and tourists in town are remarking on the building boom which this city is enjoying. Too bad that all of the visitors cannot be shown the hundreds of homes under way in the various parts of the far-flung municipality.

HIGH PRAISES WON BY OPERA GIVEN BY STUDENTS

'CHIMES OF NORMANDY" VERY WELL PRESENTED; CAST DISPLAYS TALENT

From dramatic, musical and scenic standpoints, "The Chimes of Normandy," which was given its first public presentation last night by the Student Body players at the Glendale Union High school proved to be a greater success than the school matinee performance Wednesday. The opera will be presented again tonight.

Marie Oliver as Serpolette proved by both her singing and acting that she is a budding star, while the many other characters which have already been mentioned by The Glendale Evening News proved equally well handled.

To the choruses and others who provided the settings for the opera is due a great deal of credit. Stanley Walker is general manager; Misses Smith and Renison of the sewing departments responsible for the costumes; Paul Holland is taking care of properties; Art Campbell is stage manager; Albert Hewitt, C. G. Farner and John Bender provide the lighting effects which add much to the success of the event. Especially is this true in the ghost scenes where the miser Gaspard goes crazy.

Where Credit Is Due

The Astra and Metro film companies are lending properties and lighting equipment to the students; Harry Glazier is "making up" the principals and while Mrs. Dora L. Gibson directs the orchestra and personally presides at the piano as accompanist, Miss Mona L. Gardner is stage director and coach.

Following is the personnel of the chorus:

Millicent Alvord, Ethel Burke, Mida Butler, Violette Dixon, Esther Chase, Margaret Frazee, Byrl Hatch, Helen Hartwig, Louise Hollenback, Virginia Huntley, Hope Ireland, Flora Kenney, Susie Kohl, Marguerite Manderville, Freda Potts, Alice Petty, Helena Richardson, Claire Robinson, Nellie Rowe, Helen Sherwood, Dorothy Schleuter, Norma Walace, Ida Wilbur, Amber Young, Kathleen Woods and Vera Hayden, Victor Colburn, C. PROSECUTOR TELLS LOVE TRAGEDY OF CLARA HAMON

BRAND IS PLACED UPON HER IN OPENING STATEMENT MADE TO JURYMEN

COURT HOUSE, ARDMORE, Okla., March 11.—Clara Smith Hamon faced her accusers today.

Prince Freeling, prosecutor, told the jury how the state expects to prove her guilty of murdering Jake Hamon.

Freeling said Clara followed Hamon to Ardmore in 1913 and became his stenographer.

"They began living together as husband and wife," he charged. Hamon's wife and children remained back in Lawton."

Freeling's seething brand placed on Clara apparently left her unmoved. The defendant closely watched the jury's reaction to Freeling's charges. She sat erect in her chair. Across the table sat Mrs. Jake Hamon, her daughter, Olive Belle, and son, Jake L., Jr.—listening to Freeling spade up a dead man's past.

Little Olive Belle kept swinging her head about and playing with her hands.

Jake L., Jr., leaned on the back of a chair, a serious frown on his face.

Mrs. Hamon stared frigidly at the jury—not a tear came to her eyes. It took Freeling one hour to present the state's case.

By CARL VICTOR LITTLE
United Press Staff Correspondent

ARDMORE, Okla., March 11.—Court opened today in Jake Hamon's dingy "murder suite" in the second rate Randol hotel.

Clara Smith Hamon came back to the scene where a bullet ended the career of the powerful Hamon.

This time she was in the custody of Sheriff "Buck" Garrett. He had a firing arm in either pocket.

Twelve silent men accompanied her. They were the jurors who are to weigh the evidence in her trial for Hamon's murder. Counsel for the defense and the prosecution were there, too.

Clara was to re-enact the closing incident of Hamon's life that was ended by a bullet last November. She was taken back to connecting rooms 28 and 29 on agreement of attorneys for both sides. They wanted the jury to see the rooms; to get the layout of the furniture; to hear Clara's version of Hamon's death.

Gloomy Scene Presented

The grim party walked through the store room lobby of the shabby hotel and up the stairs to the second floor.

The wall paper was dirty and split.

The scanty furniture was rickety, made of cheap maple.

Dirt spotted the worn and fringy carpet; it was faded.

Sunlight crept through the grimy little windows and penetrated the cracks in the green blinds.

There were no chandeliers in the room. Electric light bulbs swung carelessly from the low ceiling.

A gloomy, faded and moth-eaten spread was draped over the bed.

This was the lovehovel where the millionaire, Jake Hamon, elected to spend the best years of his life with his pretty protege.

It was just about as he and Clara left it.

Jury Is Completed

The jury, chosen late yesterday just before the end of the first day of the trial, was to go back to the Carter county court house after the visit to rooms 28 and 29.

Murder fans will be rewarded for their patience today. Prince Freeling, famous all over the southwest for his lecture, "The Trial of Christ," will spring the opening statement of the prosecution.

Frank L. Ketch, the administrator of the Hamon estate, who has an income of one thousand a day, is slated to testify first for the prosecution. He will probably testify as to what Hamon told him the night he was shot. Ketch is also expected to explain why he issued a signed statement, after Hamon was in the hospital, that Hamon wounded himself. Dr. Walter Hardy will bare Jake Hamon's last words.

The pockets of three veniremen were picked yesterday while they were waiting to be called to the jury box.

"Some of these slick dips from the east must be trying to disturb our peaceful lives," roared Sheriff Buck Garrett.

VERDUGO IN FAVOR OF BOND ISSUE FOR SEWAGE

PROPOSITION CARRIES WITH 74 FOR AND 12 AGAINST AT ELECTION THURSDAY

As predicted in The Evening News of yesterday, the voters in Verdugo Woodlands, by a big majority, voted in favor of the proposed $50,000 bond issue.

A total of eighty-six votes was cast; seventy-four voters were for the bond issue and twelve against.

Charles L. Chandler, president of the Verdugo Woodlands Improvement association, which asked for the election in order that the money might be spent in providing a sewage disposal system, in conjunction with $10,000 to be expended by the city on the plant, last night brought the official returns to the city hall and the meeting of the Board of City Trustees was halted long enough to extend congratulations upon the success of the election.

Mr. Chandler acted as inspector at yesterday's election; Della Mae Butler was judge and Grace M. Cleveland was clerk.

From City Manager

In connection with the election yesterday, T. W. Watson, city manager, last night filed the following with the Board of City Trustees:

"Our attention has been called to a misunderstanding that seems to have arisen in the minds of some of the residents of the Verdugo Canyon District in regard to the proposed bond issue for installation of outfall sewer and disposal works as set forth in ordinance calling election in Municipal District No. 3, Thursday, the 10th of March.

"The misunderstanding seems to be in regard to that portion of the bond issue amounting to $10,0000 that is to be used for providing the disposal works.

Board's Policy Set Forth

"In order that this misunderstanding might be corrected before the election which was held today, we secured the approval of the members of the Board of Trustees to file with Charles L. Chandler, president of the Verdugo Woodlands Improvement association, the letter attached hereto which has the signatures of all the members of the board, and in accordance with this letter we present herewith resolution declaring it to be the policy of your board that should the election for the $50,000 of bonds carry that bond redemption and interest on the $10,000 thereof that is to be used for sewage disposal works will be taken care of from other revenues than a special tax on the district."

The resolution mentioned in the above letter from the city manager was read and, upon motion of Trustee Henry, was unanimously adopted.

THOUSANDS GIVEN LEGION OF HONOR

FORMERLY EAGERLY SOUGHT RIBBON IS NOW CLASSED AS AMERICAN POLITICAL SOP

PARIS—More than 80,000 Knights and officers of the Legion of Honor and wearers of the multicolored ribbon of the Medaille Militaire have been created since the armistice, according to the Legion of Honor headquarters, where clerks are working sixteen hours a day in order to provide certificates to all recipients before June 1, when the government's allowance for extra clerical work will cease.

It is now estimated that more than 200,000 are wearing the ribbon, which before the war was given only under the rarest circumstances—in fact, so numerous have the awards become that they are considered in the business world more or less in the same light as the jobs a sewer or road inspector in the United States hands out in return for political support.

Refuse to Wear Ribbon

The Legion of Honor headquarters reported that it was astounded by the large number of war heroes who refuse to wear the honor assigned to them, their objection invariably being based on their not desiring to place their service to France in the same category as that of the noncommissioned members of political missions sent to the United States at a time when the nation needed men in the trenches.

Before the war the Legion of Honor ribbon was worn only by one in every 20,000 population. Now the number is ten times that and the list is still growing at the rate of 100 a week and with a special commission headed by Gen. Fayolle confronted by another 10,000 dossiers filed since the armistice.

GALLI-CURCI'S RIVAL IS DIVORCED BY MARY GARDEN

ENGELES OTEIN TO BE USED IN GREAT GAMBLE; TELLS OF EXPERIENCE IN VENICE

NEW YORK—A young, untried singer will attempt to outshine Galli-Curci at the Manhattan opera house this season. She is Angeles Otein, a new Spanish coloratura soprano. Mary Garden, singer and impresario, who made the "find" told the story of it recently.

"I shall have to gamble on a new Galli-Curci," Miss Garden said. "I am forced to gamble for our next season in New York. For Chicago I shall still have Curci, but for New York (by the terms of Galli-Curci's contract with the Metropolitan Opera company for next year she is not to sing in New York for Mary Garden), I shall need a coloratura to rival Curci if such a one can be found."

Having heard that Frieda Hempel, the famous Austrian coloratura, had been signed by the Chicago company, my next question was:

"Is Frieda Hempel your gamble?"

Miss Garden answered flatly, "No!"

Then she related an experience of her past summer in Venice, where yearly a band of artists foregather for rest and discussion.

Found and Lost in Venice

"In Venice last summer," she said, "I went to an open air performance in a summer resort and heard the most extraordinary coloratura voice I have ever found. It belonged to an obscure singer of the provincial Italian opera houses. I marked her as something worth getting then—but I didn't know that I was scouting for myself and neglected even so practical a step as noting her name. But I shall look her up this summer. Her voice is quite abnormal in range and has a remarkable peculiarity of increasing in power and beauty as it ascends—to quite unbelievably high notes."

The rest of the sudden fortune of Angeles Otein is told in an announcement at the Manhattan. It relates that Miss Garden, hearing Otein was singing with the Bracale company, an itinerant band of the second order, and had just started a season in the Cuban capital. Longoni persuaded her to hurry her Havana season to a close and come to New York in time to try the great gamble this year.

"SOUPSPICIOUS"

"See here, landlord, I don't understand about this trousers button being in my soup."

"I don't either, sir. We employ only female help here."

NEW CHIEF AND HIS CONGRESS GIVEN BIG PROBLEMS

NATIONAL AND INTERNATIONAL QUESTIONS OF IMPORTANCE FACING ADMINISTRATION

By L. C. MARTIN
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — The new president and his congress today faced greater and more numerous tasks than any administration in American history, in the opinion of men of long service here in the house and senate.

A mere recital of the questions put up to Harding and the sixty-seventh congress for solution is staggering, senators and members of the house who have been looking over the job declare.

Washington had a huge task at the end of the Revolution, Andrew Johnson and U. S. Grant had the aftermath of the Civil War to cope with, Woodrow Wilson had the world war and the making of peace, but Harding, it was pointed out, has more than all of them put together.

He has made plain to his party leaders in congress that he understands this, and has appealed for, even demanded their co-operation.

Here are a few of the questions with which Harding and congress must cope:

Foreign Relations

Peace with Germany.

Decision as to the manner in which the United States will co-operate with the rest of the world (if at all) in an association of nations for preservation of world peace.

Arrangements for repayment of more than $10,000,000,000 loaned to Great Britain, France, Italy, Russia, Greece, and a dozen smaller nations.

The Russian problem, including trade with that country.

The Japanese question, including Japanese land ownership in California and Japanese immigration.

Mexico; our relations with the Obregon government.

Colombia; the long pending treaty to settle the Panama canal dispute.

Haiti and Santo Domingo; decision on policy to be pursued toward them.

Securing of larger rights and privileges and facilities for cable communication.

Domestic Affairs

Tax revision.

The tariff.

Soldier bonus legislation.

Reorganization of the government on an economy and efficiency basis.

Reconciliation of insurgent elements within the republican party.

Fixing of policies with respect to the size of the army and navy, particularly as to the trend of naval construction.

Establishment of a policy toward business, demanded to help stabilize and revive American industry, and involving a conflict between advocates of strict governmental regulation and those who want entire freedom from it.

Revision and repeal of espionage laws curtailing the freedom of speech and the press, involving a controversy over the need for certain safeguards against bolshevism.

The railroads; settlement of claims, adoption of a policy.

The merchant marine; adoption of a policy, including decision on Panama canal tolls for American ships.

There are many other tasks, offshoots, in the main, of these major ones, but all complicated and perplexing. Harding will find himself, too, according to prediction, between the millstones of opinion of his advisers, some of whom want the foreign questions solved first, while others demand instant attention to domestic issues, to the exclusion of all else.

Would Name Road 'The Sacred Way'

PARIS—A proposal has been made that the road leading from Bar-le-Duc to Verdun, a road well known to American doughboys who fought in those parts and to tourists to the front, shall henceforth be known as "The Sacred Way." At each extremity small arches would be built, surmounted by a gilded poilu's helmet encircled with bronze laurels. Milestones would also receive the same decorations and bear the words "The Sacred Way." It was along this road that soldiers marched to the Battle of Verdun and by it they received their food and munitions.

Italian Deputies In Search Of Quarters

ROME—Several members of the Italian chamber of deputies applied to the president of the chamber for assistance in finding living quarters in this city. They declared that, after vainly applying at dozens of hotels and pensions, they had been obliged to sleep on sofas in the library of the chamber. They said that unless assistance was given they would be unable properly to exercise their legislative mandates.

The president urged the government to order twenty hotels to keep five bedrooms each at the disposal of deputies during sessions of the chamber.

The center of population as shown by the 1920 census is located in the southeast corner of Owen county, Indiana. It has advanced 9.8 miles westward in the last decade.

POLICY OF WATER DEPARTMENT WILL BE DECIDED BY PEOPLE

Condensed Statement of Matter Will Be Put Intc Pamphlet Form for General Circulation assessment on property served thereby."

These propositions were contained in the statement issued by the city manager to the trustees and published in The Evening News on March 8. However, as the trustees last night instructed the city manager and the city attorney to draft a more condensed statement than that submitted by the city manager, it is possible that this new statement, when it is issued to the people in pamphlet form, may contain the propositions differently worded.

To Abide by Decision

Yet the propositions, as given, are the substance of what the trustees desire the people to pass upon. One will receive a majority vote. The trustees, as the result of a resolution introduced by Trustee Lapham last night, seconded by Trustee Henry, and unanimously passed, are on record as being willing to let the people, by their votes cast at the polls on March 29, fix the policy the board is to follow in the financeering of the municipality's water business.

In view of the fact that the $100,000 bond issue that is asked for distribution mains for the water system and which is to be voted upon March 29, will be involved in the decision of the people on the two propositions, the importance of the "straw" vote is apparent.

Campaign of Education

Because of the fact that the people themselves and not the trustees are to decide the policy of the water business, the trustees, as they expressed themselves last night, are anxious that the people have a thorough understanding of the matter. Therefore, it was decided to have the city manager and the city attorney draft the statement to be put in pamphlet form for free distribution throughout the city. Also, the statement, when it has been completed, will appear in full in The Evening News.

Dwight Stephenson, president of the board, suggested the fullest publicity be given to the propositions and the board was unanimous in the desire that the decision of the people on March 29 be final and followed by the board.

Trustee Lapham made the motion to that effect. It is probable that the pamphlets will be distributed first, followed by the sample ballots. It is the plan that on election day when the voters go to the polls to register their wishes regarding the charter and the various bond issues, they also cast their votes regarding the policy to be followed in the water department.

Discussion of Propositions

In his statement made to the trustees and published in The Evening News of March 8, the city manager said, concerning the two propositions:

"Either plan is practicable, although one may have many advantages over the other. If these propositions are to be submitted to the voters of the city at the coming election on the 29th of March, I would recommend that the following policy be adopted at once concerning the $100,000 bond issue that is asked for for distribution mains.

"Should proposition No. 1 carry and the policy be established to pay for service mains by bond issue, 40 per cent of the $100,000 of bonds if voted would be devoted to the laying of service mains, these mains to be laid on streets for which improvement petitions have been filed in the order of the date of filing said petitions, provided, however, that should a majority of the frontage protest against such improvement such street would lose its priority.

"Should proposition No. 2 carry and service mains be laid by local assessment and the entire $100,000 be available for distribution mains, mains will be laid as follows:

"Pacific avenue from Broadway to Arden avenue.

"Glendale avenue from Windsor Road to Palmer avenue.

"Colorado street from Louise street to Brand boulevard.

"Brand boulevard from Colorado street to Acacia avenue.

"Broadway from Glendale avenue to Brand boulevard.

"Windsor Road from Sycamore Canon Road to Verdugo Road.

"Broadway from Pacific avenue to San Fernando Road.

"Chester street from Doran street to Myrtle street.

"Oakwood from Glendale avenue to Verdugo Road.

"Verdugo Road from Oakwood to Lexington Drive.

"Garfield avenue from Brand boulevard to Glendale avenue.

"This will leave a considerable reserve that may be devoted to the laying of distribution mains in other portions of the city as the need therefor may develop. In case there is only $60,000 available out of the bond issue for distribution mains, the last three items on the list may have to be provided for by additional bond issue."

Additional Statement Made

After that statement was made to the trustees and published in The Evening News, the city manager prepared an additional statement, which he submitted to the trustees last night. It follows in full:

"Pursuant to a verbal request of the members of your board we prepared a general statement setting forth some of the requirements of the water distribution system and suggesting methods of financing the necessary investments in connection therewith, also setting forth our recommendations as to the expenditure of the $100,009 of water bonds if the same should be authorized on March 29. Copy of this report was furnished members of your board March 8 and by authorization of Dwight W. Stephenson, president of the board, the same was published on that date in the Glendale daily papers.

"This report covers a very large field and was prepared in much less time than we had intended to devote to it. We thought advisable, however, that you have this statement before you at the earliest possible moment inasmuch as some of the facts set forth therein might have a bearing on the policy you desire to announce in regard to the expenditure of the $100,000 water bonds if the same should be voted. In going over the report again after its submission to the members of your board, we find that we desire to supplement it with the following:

"First. Where distribution mains also serve as service mains that the proportionate part of the cost thereof that would represent the cost of a service main laid will be financed according to whatever policy is adopted for the financing of service mains.

Illustration Is Given

"For instance if an eight-inch distribution main is required on a certain street and that main will also serve as a service main for the property abutting on such street and should the policy of the city be established to finance the cost of distribution mains by assessment on the property served thereby, then the proportion of the cost of such eight-inch distribution main that would represent the cost of a four-inch service main would be assessed to abutting property and the balance of the cost of such distribution main would be paid for by bond issue. On the other hand if the policy should be adopted to finance the cost of service mains from general bond issue with the understanding that bond redemption and interest thereon be met by tax levy on the assessable property of the entire city, then the cost of that portion of the eight-inch distribution main that would represent the cost of a four-inch service main would be financed in accordance with that plan.

Additional Streets

"Second. We want to add the following to the list of streets in which distribution mains will be laid should proposition No. 2 carry:

"Glendale avenue from Palmer to Cerritos avenues.

"Brand boulevard from Acacia to Cypress avenues.

"San Fernando Road from Windsor Road to Palmer avenue.

"Extension of the line of Chester street from Myrtle street to Broadway.

"Dryden street from Brand boulevard to Campbell street.

"We want to emphasize that these distribution mains are needed on the streets suggested for the purpose of increasing the pressure in the whole district and should be considered in that light by property holders and consumers of water whose places are not located on streets upon which it is proposed to lay these mains."

Official Minutes of City Clerk

At the regular meeting of the Board of City Trustees last night the following was done: Board assembled at 8:10 p. m., all members present. Minutes of the regular meeting of March 3, 1921, were read and approved.

Case Before Railroad Commission

In regard to request of the railroad commission to be informed as to whether the city of Glendale wishes to dismiss the case pending before the commission, in regard to valuation of the Southern California Gas company's property, the chairman stated that the opportunity would now be given to any citizen present to protest against the dismissal of the case. No protests were presented. On motion of Trustee Henry, the city attorney was instructed to enter the dismissal of the case before the railroad commission.

Extension Granted

Peter L. Ferry, contractor, made a written application for extension of time for the completion of improvement of Maple street. On motion of Trustee Henry, same was granted.

Proposed Legislation

Communications were read from the League of California Municipalities calling attention to certain laws now before the legislature for adoption, one of which proposes to make the city marshal an elective officer, while another would take away some of the policies of local control now in the hands of municipalities in regard to franchises, transferring them to the railroad commission. The trustees were requested in the communication to enter a protest against the adoption of the proposed laws. Referred to the committee of the whole.

Permit Wanted

Mrs. R. G.Payne in a written communication requested that the city remove certain century plants in the parkway fronting on her property. Referred to the city forester for investigation and report.

Protest Against "Holy Rollers"

Protest was presented signed by Henry Vonfeld and eleven other residents and property owners objecting to the building of a "Holy Rollers'" church at 631 East Colorado street, asserting that same is a nuisance. The chairman stated that the board had no authority in the matter. On motion, the clerk was instructed to notify the protestants to this effect.

Permit to Do Street Work

An application was read from Edwards & Wildey asking for a permit to oil portions of Concord street and Chester street. On motion of Trustee Henry, granted.

Petitions for Improvement

A petition was presented from Edwards & Wildey asking the trustees to take the necessary proceedings for the opening and extension of Wilson avenue from the westerly line of tract No. 839 to the easterly line of tract No. 3399, also a similar petition was signed by Edwards & Wildey company and John Todd asking for proceedings to be taken for the opening and extension of Salem street from the westerly line of tract No. 839 to the easterly line of Kenilworth street. Both were referred to the city engineer.

Report of Gross Receipts

The city clerk reported that there had been filed with him an affidavit by G. E. McFarland, president of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company, showing total gross receipts of that company in Glendale for the year ending March 10, 1921, were $89,616.10. On motion, the statement was received and approved.

Dayton Court

Protests against the improvement of Dayton court were called for at this time. The clerk reported no protests had been received.

Stanley Avenue Protests

Protests were called for against the opening of Stanley avenue, and the protests of Frank Campbell and J. J. Swiggart were presented and referred to the city engineer.

Municipal District No. 4

The clerk reported that he had checked on the great register of the county the names attached to the petition referred to him at the regular meeting of March 3, 1921, and finds that they represent more than 10 per cent of the registered voters residing in the district outlined in the petition and that they were so registered at the time of signing. On motion, it was ordered that petition be accepted.

Demands

The demands were presented and referred to the finance committee and, on motion of Trustee Robinson, the demands were ordered to be paid, the same having been approved by the finance committee, all voting aye on roll call.

Request of Bannister & Day

The city manager reported that Bannister & Day wish to be given permission to begin work on the 300,000-gallon reservoir and pumping plant and pipe line as per agreement of February 8, 1921. On motion of Trustee Henry, permission was granted subject to consent of the surety that the modification of the contract would not in any way affect their responsibility, this reference being to the laying of the pipe line only.

Request of D. Cornalince

In regard to request of D. C. Cornalinee to remove twenty-five feet of curbing on Grand View avenue and four eucalyptus trees on San Fernando Road, the city manager recommended that same be granted, and, on motion of Trustee Henry, it was so ordered.

Lot on East California Street

The city manager reported that in accordance with instructions to have the city lot on East California street appraised, he had secured the services of Mrs. Mabel L. Tight to represent the city, who in conjunction with Mrs. Fred Sinclair, representing G. H. Rapp, had fixed the valuation at $500 on the lot. No action taken.

Water Service Pipe

The city manager submitted a supplement to the report previously presented to the board in regard to requirements of the water distribution system, consisting of the following recommendations:

1. Where distribution mains also serve as service mains, the proportionate part of the cost thereof would represent the cost of a service main laid, financed according to whatever policy is adopted for the financing of service mains.

2. Add the following list of streets in which district mains will be laid should proposition No. 2 carry at the coming bond election:

Glendale avenue, Palmer to Cerritos avenues.

Brand boulevard, Acacia to Cypress streets.

San Fernando Road, Windsor Road to Palmer avenue.

Extension of the line of Chester street from Myrtle street to Broadway.

Dryden street, Brand boulevard to Campbell street.

Referred to the city attorney to prepare a statement as to the suggested policies, and the city attorney was instructed to draft a condensed edition of the pamphlet recently distributed and published to be distributed to the voters in company with a sample ballot enabling them to express their preference at the election of March 29, 1921. Adopted by roll call, all voting aye.

Bonds Municipal District No. 3

The city manager recommended the adoption of resolution in regard to a portion of the $50,000 bond issue of municipal district No. 3 in the event of the same being decided upon by the voters, and in accordance with the recommendations, on motion of Trustee Henry, resolution No. 1171 was adopted providing that bond redemption and interest of $10,000 on said bond issue will be met from revenues of the city of Glendale.

Action Reconsidered

On motion of Trustee Lapham, action in regard to the manager's report as to water mains, taken at this meeting, was ordered to be reconsidered. On motion of Trustee Lapham, it was ordered that the recommendations of the city manager be condensed in a pamphlet form and same be distributed to the electors, together with a sample ballot to be prepared by the city attorney, covering the method to be adopted in financing the laying of water mains and service pipe, the board agreeing to abide by the decision of the voters to be given at the election of March 29, 1921. Adopted by roll call, all voting aye.

Application of A. P. Offutt

The city manager made a report favoring the application of A. P. Offutt for a permit to operate one-half hour bus service on a given route in the city of Glendale. The matter was referred to the city attorney to report upon the legality of the matter proposed.

On motion of Trustee Bartlett, the following resolution was adopted, all voting aye:

"Whereas, This board has caused a notice to be published for two weeks in the Glendale Sentinel-Progress, a newspaper of general circulation published in the city of Glendale, inviting bids (1) for testing and pumping and with compressed air two 16-inch wells belonging to said city at its pumping plant on San Fernando Road, and also (2) for installing one deep well pump and motor and erecting pump house and derrick and installing the electrical and hydraulic connections for such pump and motor, said bids to be opened March 3, 1921, and, whereas, at the time so

AUTO BUS LINE TO BE ESTABLISHED TO SERVE CITY

APPLICATION OF A. P. OFFUTT IS FAVORABLY RECEIVED BY TRUSTEES' BOARD

Establishment of an auto bus line to be operated by A. P. Offutt to serve certain sections of the city not now touched by car lines is favored by the Board of City Trustees, it was indicated by the board members in session last night.

The application for a franchise or permit to operate the line was passed upon by T. W. Watson, city manager, and his report considered by the trustees, who referred the entire matter to Hartley Shaw, city attorney, for a report as to the legality of the recommendations and just how the board is to proceed.

Report of City Manager

The report of the city manager, containing a suggested route for the bus line, follows:

"In regard to the application of A. P. Offutt for franchise to operate motor bus service on certain streets in the city of Glendale which was referred to us at your meeting of February 17, we respectfully report as follows:

"The route suggested by Mr. Offutt, viz., beginning at the present west terminus of Patterson avenue at the southeast corner of the new park and along Patterson avenue to Columbus avenue, south on Columbus avenue to Broadway, east on Broadway to Adams street, south on Adams street to Windsor Road, would bring a portion of the northwestern and southeastern sections of the city in closer touch with the main business center and the car lines.

"I believe, however, a slight modification in the route might be desirable, as follows:

"Fix the northwest terminus at Pacific avenue and Sixth street, thence south on Pacific avenue to Burchett street, west on Burchett to Columbus, south on Columbus to Broadway, west on Broadway to Pacific, south on Pacific to Harvard, east on Harvard to Brand, north on Brand to Broadway, east on Broadway to Adams, south on Adams to Windsor Road.

Suggests Hearty Support

"I understand Mr. Offutt desires to secure a permit from the city of Glendale to operate a half-hour bus service on the route suggested by him, the fare to be five cents. This is a matter that might well receive the hearty support and encouragement of the city.

"If it is within the jurisdiction of the city I would recommend that an ordinance be prepared providing for the issuing of permits to operate such service not only along the route suggested but along any that might seem advisable and that such ordinance provide that the rates of fare and frequency of service and all other necessary matters pertaining to service be set forth in permits issued under the provisions of such ordinance and that a bond be executed to guarantee the service required by such permit.

"I believe that the best interest of the city would be served also by providing that the service once established be protected from competition as long as such service is in accordance with permit issued therefor and is adequate to take care of the needs of the zone served thereby.

"Pending the enactment of such ordinance as your board may deem advisable in this connection if it is within the jurisdiction of the board I would recommend that Mr. Offutt be granted a temporary permit for a period of six months to operate a bus service along the route last outlined herein and that the service be half-hourly and the fare five cents."

Consider Value On Lot Is Too Small

The city of Glendale will not sell for $500 its lot on East California avenue—anyway, not right at present.

T. W. Watson filed the following with the Board of City Trustees last night:

"Pursuant to your instructions of the 10th of February that we take steps to have the city's lot on East California avenue appraised by three appraisers, one to be appointed by the city, one by G. H. Rapp, who has made application to purchase the lot, and the third to be chosen by the two thus appointed, we secured the services of Mrs. Mabel L. Tight, 126 North Everett street, to act for the city, and G. H. Rapp secured the services of Mrs. Fred Sinclair, 245 Sinclair avenue. These two have authorized us to report that they estimate the value of this lot at $500.

After the report was read, Trustee Henry made a motion that the city authorize the lot for sale. Trustee Robinson announced that he would be glad to purchase the lot himself at that figure.

"Do you think the valuation too low?" asked Trustee Lapham of Trustee Robinson. The latter declared he considered it a good buy at the figure.

City Clerk Sherer said that the city paid $500 for the lot about eight years ago.

As Trustee Henry's motion was not seconded, the city's lot is not up for sale.

Steel Prices Scored In Official's Report

WASHINGTON—The increase which has taken place in wages since the war does not excuse present prices for steel and iron products, the report of the comptroller of the currency says. A careful analysis which was made of the reports of one of the largest and most important steel and iron companies shows that that company in the last year of the war, 1918, charged, on an average, for every ton of steel which it produced, at least $25 per ton in excess of a price which would have enabled the company to pay full dividends upon its very large capital stock.

Custodian Is Chosen For Lincoln's Tomb

SPRINGFIELD, Ill.—Henry W. Fay of De Kalb has been made custodian of the Lincoln monument, succeeding Major E. S. Johnson, who died recently. Mr. Fay is said to have more than 1,000,000 separate clippings, mementoes and photographs connected with President Lincoln.

Major Johnson, it is said, during the thirty-three years he had served as custodian had conducted more than 3,000,000 persons through the Lincoln monument, including all presidents since Lincoln, kings and queens, foreign ambassadors and distinguished men from all nations.

Argentina has removed the export duty on wool and on all cattle, sheep and horse skins for a period of one year.

FIGURES ARE GIVEN ABOUT PLANT BY CITY MANAGER

of all investments that will be needed in the water business during the next ten to fifteen years that there will be outstanding approximately $1,200,000 of water bonds alone at that time and in view of the fact that there are so many other improvements yet to be made, some of which are vital to the welfare of the city, it would hardly seem advisable to devote such a large proportion of the city's bonding capacity to the needs of one utility."

The city manager points out that there are at least four sources from which money may be obtained for investment in a municipal water plant. He quotes:

"1. From the sale of municipal bonds.

"2. From revenues derived from the sale of water.

"3. From assessment on land.

"4. From direct payment by property holders or consumers."

The city manager says that the present policy may be continued; that is, to finance all such investments classified as general by general bond issue supported entirely from revenues derived from the sale of water.

Or, to continue the present policy as to investments classified as personal or individual. In brief this is that all service connections be paid for directly by persons owning or occupying property served thereby.

The third is to submit to voters question of policy as to financing investments classified as local. This will be for four-inch service mains only.

Members of the Board of City Trustees and the city manager considered the matter in the committee of the whole and the decision was reached that the people themselves must decide the policy to be adopted. Therefore, the two propositions will be voted upon on March 29.

One proposition is that all service mains be paid for hereafter from the proceeds of the general municipal bonds and all bond redemption and interest on account of such bonds shall be met from a tax levied on all of the property within the city.

The other proposition is that all service mains installed hereafter shall be paid for by an assessment on the property served thereby.

The new and condensed statement to be issued to the public by the city manager and the city attorney, at the order of the Board of City Trustees, will, it is expected, present the matter in a form that will be readily understood by the people so that when the vote is cast on March 29, it will have been done intelligently, for the policy adopted by the people is the one to be followed by the trustees, according to the resolution passed last night.

RULING PUZZLES CHICAGO DOCTORS

NOT YET CERTAIN JUST WHO ARE TO RECEIVE BEER UNDER NEW ORDER

CHICAGO, March 11. — Here are the two classes of patients who will get prescriptions for beer:

1. New mothers.
2. Those in "run down" condition who need a tonic.

That was the verdict of several Chicago doctors today who were interviewed on the possibility of getting a beer prescription under the new ruling of the government allowing sale of beer for medicinal purposes.

The doctors were all rather uncertain about the federal ruling. They were also somewhat uncertain as to just what the medicinal qualities of beer might be, but they were all busy looking it up and promised to be ready for full information in a few days. They requested that their names not be used.

Hundreds of barrels of real beer are being made by Chicago brewers daily and they are "rarin' to go" as soon as they get word that beer can be sold for medicinal or any other purposes.

The real beer is made in the process of making "near beer." After the alcohol is removed, it is then sold. "It would be easier to supply beer to customers than near beer," said Thomas Kelly, president of the Kelly Brewing company.

BLAME AUTO FOR LACK OF SPORTS

FRESNO HAS RECORD FOR NEW CARS, BUT THERE IS NO PLAYING OF BASEBALL

FRESNO—This city of 50,000 souls enjoys the reputation of having less sports and more automobiles than any other city of its size in the United States. It is probably the only city of this size in the country with no baseball team and no baseball park.

"Fresno is dead as a doornail so far as sports go," said the sport writer of a local newspaper, "and some of us blame the autos for it."

Fresno's sports consist of one bowling alley, two basketball teams and some playgrounds. The high school tries its hand at football in the fall.

"Every janitor and every street sweeper owns his own car," said the sport writer, "and he spends his spare time riding in it. You have to hunt for blocks before you can park on a downtown street. Fresno just doesn't seem to care for sports. It doesn't even have a city golf course."

But Fresno prides itself on its playgrounds, which are declared to be the best in the state.

DREAM OF REV. FATHER O'NEILL NOW ABOUT TO BE REALIZED

PRIEST'S PIONEER WORK IS SUCCESS

COMES HERE WHEN THERE IS NO CHURCH; MAGNIFICENT STRUCTURE PLANNED

When the Rev. Father James S. O'Neill came to Glendale fourteen years ago there was no Catholic church—just a few parishioners here and there about the broadly-scattered community.

So it was that services were held in the G. A. R. hall on South Glendale avenue for nine months with Father O'Neill's altar under the American flag which graced the rostrum.

This morning the pioneer priest of this community—a man who has followed the footsteps of Father Junipero Serra, came to The Glendale Evening News office, and said:

"They are breaking ground today on our new $53,000 church building. We are going to have an edifice on Elk avenue at Louise street that will be the realization of my many years' work for such a church."

There are now 700 communicants here and the parish is growing so rapidly that the new structure is needed to meet the needs. The old church site was donated by Mrs. Emmeline Childs of Los Angeles and only a small building placed thereon. For years this has been insufficient, but Father O'Neill said today that he had waited until funds sufficient for a proper place of worship were provided before he went ahead with the building program.

To facilitate his work the Reverend O'Neill now has a Ford coupe in which to visit his Glendale parishioners.

Rev. Father James S. O'Neill, here for fourteen years and beloved by his parishioners. His dream of a magnificent church is about to be realized.

CHIEF HUMORIST HAS QUIT SENATE

PLENTY OF FUN PROVIDED BY CHARLES S. THOMAS WHEN DEBRATES ARE SOLEMN

WASHINGTON — When Senator Charles S. Thomas of Colorado left the senate on March 4, that august body lost much of the comic relief that occasionally punctuates debate on wholly prosaic legislation.

The senate was considering an amendment of the agricultural bill, providing $15,000 "for the study of processes and methods of home tanning of lace and other leathers used on the farm."

"I should like to inquire," said Thomas, "what lace leather is. I know there was a species of 'home tanning' in vogue when I was a boy, but that was some time ago. Since then home tanning seems to need recognition. What is it?"

Thomas was told that the amendment did not refer to the punitive exertions of vexed parents, but that lace leather was used in sewing belts and the mending of harness.

"Appropriation Industry"

The trouble with farming today, according to Thomas, is that it has become an "appropriation industry."

"Long ago," he explained, "we reached the point where any activity upon a farm, no matter where it may occur, or what the activity is, at once proceeds with lightning speed to Washington for an appropriation and for paternal investigation at so much per year. In the good old days when farming was farming, when farmers were not farmed as they are nowadays, the farmers secured for themselves needed articles of both production and manufacture."

Then Thomas took a crack at Senator Ashurst of Arizona, who had obtained a $10,000 increase on the appropriation for studying the physiology of plants by serving the senators with choice varieties of western dates.

"I am particularly struck," Thomas said, "by the new method of securing appropriations—that of producing some samples of the subject that is sought to be sweetened by an appropriation and passing it around to the senators. We ate figs and dates yesterday, which cost the people of the United States $10,000.

Have Their Wares Ready

"Hereafter, I have no doubt that when the agricultural bill is to be considered, the senate chamber will be converted into a delicatessen store. Each senator will have his wares ready, to be passed around and sampled by the lawmakers, whose votes will be influenced to some degree by the palatable nature of the commodity in question.

"I hope that practice will not be extended to the animal department of this bill. We now make large appropriations for the extermination of predatory animals whose presence, in the chamber might change its atmosphere in a stampede instead of an appropriation. I hope the exhibits will be confined to fruits and vegetables."

Southern California

Prosperity Evidence

Just another evidence of southern California's prosperity.

Internal Revenue Collector Carter at Los Angeles says that income taxes in this section will again lead the country. Going Back to Punch

When high-class cafes have to serve prize fights to put a punch in their programs, people may know that the day of the "shimmy" is nearly over and the old world is "evoluting" back to sports wherein athletic prowess proves a greater attraction than jazz sensations. All of which calls to mind the Mi Careme ball in Los Angeles last night.

Thirteen Chicago alderman—a lucky number, perhaps—are in Los Angeles looking over the street railway situation. They seemed surprised that the service here is better than in the Windy City. They will likely get a bigger shock today when they visit the film plants and find some real spirited industry.

Miller Quits, Record Of 138,000,000 Barrels

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — To have made more flour than any other person in the world is the record of John Kraft, local miller, who retires after forty-six years' active service. In that time he has made 138,000,000 barrels of flour, according to a weekly publication issued at the milling plant.

Triplane In Tryout Flies With Big Load

LONDON — A giant Caproni triplane made its first trial flight over Lake Maggiore, Italy, says a dispatch to the London Times from Milan. It rose to a height of twenty feet and covered about a mile. The test was considered a complete success. In addition to the crew the triplane carried more than a ton and a half of ballast.

Sixty Millions Are Starving, Is Claimed

VANCOUVER, B. C.—Sixty million persons in China are trying to cling to life by subsisting on dried leaves, roots, sawdust and rubbish from the streets, according to Rev. George E. Simmons, treasurer of the American Missionary society in Honan, who has just arrived here from the Orient. He said in the famine stricken districts the country is shorn of every vestige of vegetation and even the carrion birds have disappeared. Millions more will starve to death unless they get food until the crops are harvested in May.

GUARANTEE JOBS BY LAW, IS PLAN

STATE OF WISCONSIN ASKED TO INCORPORATE VIEWS OF PROFESSOR INTO STATUTE

MADISON, Wis. — "Guaranteed a job, the American workman will not be troublesome."

"The feeling of insecurity as to the permanency of the job is the principal cause of labor unrest."

This in brief summarizes the opinion of Professor John R. Commons, noted economist of the University of Wisconsin.

The state of Wisconsin has been asked to incorporate Professor Commons' views in a law. A bill is now pending in the legislature, written under Professor Commons' direction, which insures workmen compensation in case of loss of employment.

The bill is generally known as an unemployment insurance measure but its primary purpose is to guarantee the workman his job.

Fate of Bill Unknown

The fate of the bill cannot be foretold. The measure accepts the sweeping principle that the liability for unemployment rests solely upon the employer. The state, under the provisions of the bill, operates free employment offices and assists employers in finding jobs for men dropped from their payrolls. Until such jobs are found employers must pay idle workmen and women $1.50 per day for each day of idleness and 75 cents a day for employes under the age of 18 years.

Workmen must have worked for one or more employers six months before they are entitled to compensation. They must be capable, available for employment and unable to obtain suitable jobs. No employe is required to work where there is a lock-out or strike. Non-employment insurance begins the third day after the loss of a job and must be paid weekly.

Does Not Apply to Them

The bill does not apply to farmers, canning factories, state, cities, towns, villages and school districts. Private employers working less than three men are also exempted. Employes having private incomes in excess of $500 annually are excluded.

Employers are required to insure payments of liabilities in a mutual insurance company, under the control of the compensation insurance bond. Employers are barred from deducting insurance premiums from the pay of employes. Neither can employers and employes make a valid agreement to waive the liabilities.

Employes cannot obtain compensation for more than thirteen weeks in any one year.

RESEARCH WORK SUCCESS, BELIEF

PERMANENT CURE FOR DISEASE FOUND, IS THOUGHT, BY 27 YEARS' HUNT

LONDON—At last there is a prospect of permanent cure for leprosy, which means that thousands of outcasts may look forward with hope to the future.

After twenty-seven years in the Indian medical service, Lieutenant-Colonel Sir Leonard Rogers has announced that his efforts in medical research work have resulted in the discovery of treatment which destroys the leprosy bacilli in the human tissue.

Sir Leonard says that while he does not claim to have discovered an infallible permanent cure, this achievement is nearer at hand now than it has ever been before.

"In the case of one leper," he said, "sight was restored after treatmpt. Others have regained the sense of touch, and in the case of a man who fore treatment, he can now walk ten could not walk 200 or 300 yards bemiles."

Sir Leonard explained that for a long time the only drug known to be of value in leprosy was chaulmoogra oil which is obtained from the seed of a tree that grows in the wilds of India. But this oil was so nauseating that it was impossible to administer it in doses large enough to be effective.

Tells of Experiments

"The first step in advance," said he, "was made by Dr. Heiser, the American doctor in the Philippine Island, who injected the oil intramuscularly, and obtained an apparent curt in 11 per cent of his cases as the result of a prolonged course of painful injections.

"It was at this point that I took up the work in 1915. I obtained a soluble sodium salt of the unsaturated fatty acids which form the bulk of the oil, and I found that I could inject this undeaneath the skin or into the veins safely, causing less pain, and with greater effect on the disease. Reactions occurred with the leprosy bavilli in the tissues, which has never been done before.

"Owing to the long incubation period of the disease it is not yet possible to say that any of these cases are permanently cured, but we now have real grounds for hoping that this may be so."

Marries Couple While Waiting For His Car

CHICO, Cal.—"Time for my car," said Judge Leressingol, as he started for the corner.

"Just a minute, judge, marry us," was the request of T. W. Grutted and Minnie Ames, who just then rushed up to the judge.

And eager to please as well as anxious to be on his way, the judge pronounced them man and wife, extended the usual felicitations—and caught his car on time. He'll mail back the wedding certificate.

ORDINANCE NO. 430

AN ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE PROVIDING FOR THE REGULATION OF TRAFFIC UPON PUBLIC STREETS AND PROVIDING A PENALTY FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF.

THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE CITY OF GLENDALE DO ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. The City Marshal shall designate a sufficient number of police officers to attend upon the public streets, to control the movement and order the stoppage of vehicles, street cars, and interurban railway cars in or upon such streets in order to prevent the congestion of traffic and to prevent accidents. Every police officer of the City of Glendale shall have authority to control the movement and order the stoppage of vehicles, street cars and interurban railway cars in or upon such public streets for the purposes herein set forth. The movement and stoppage of vehicles, street cars and interurban railway cars at street intersections shall be governed by the orders of such police officer made by sounding a police whistle, signaling with the hand, or the raising or lowering the arm or arms of semaphores. One blast of a police whistle or the raising of a hand, or the raising or lowering of a red arm of a semaphore to a horizontal position and at right angles to the direction toward which traffic is proceeding indicates that vehicles, street cars and interurban railway cars traveling on any street running in a general northerly and southerly direction shall stop and that vehicles, street cars and interurban railway cars traveling on any street running in a general easterly and westerly direction may proceed. Two blasts of a police whistle or raising of the hand or the raising or lowering of a red arm of a semaphore to a horizontal position and at right angles to the direction toward which traffic is proceeding indicates that vehicles, street cars, and interurban railway cars traveling on any street running in a general easterly and westerly direction shall stop and that vehicles, street cars, and interurban railway cars traveling on any street running in a general northerly and southerly direction may proceed. Vehicles, street cars and interurban railway cars shall stop so as not to interfere with the passage of pedestrians at the crossings. Three or more blasts of a police whistle is a signal of alarm and indicates the approach of a fire engine or some other danger, and all vehicles, street cars and interurban railway cars shall stop until permitted by the police officer to proceed; provided, however, that when any vehicle is stopped by means of any order or signal of any police officer, or the raising or lowering of a red semaphore arm to a horizontal position, such vehicle must remain stopped until ordered or signaled by such officer to proceed or the red arm of such semaphore is lowered or raised to a perpendicular position; and provided, further, that street cars approaching or stopped at an intersecting street into which they are to turn may proceed upon the giving of the signal for traffic to move upon such intersecting street.

Drivers of vehicles and motormen of street cars and interurban railway cars must at all times comply with any direction given by whistle, voice or hand of any police officer or semaphore used for directing traffic as to stoppage, starting, approaching or departing from any place in any street.

It shall be unlawful for any person driving, using or having control of any vehicle, or for any motorman or other person running, operating or having charge or control of any street car or interurban railway car or train of cars, to fail, refuse or neglect to obey the order or direction of any police officer in regard to moving or stopping any such vehicle or any such street car or interurban railway car or train of cars in or upon any street.

Section 2. PENALTY. Any person, firm or corporation violating any of the provisions of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be punishable by a fine of not less than ten dollars nor more than three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the County Jail of the County of Los Angeles for not less than five days, nor more than three months or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 3. The City Clerk shall certify to the passage of this Ordinance and shall cause the same to be published once in the Glendale Sentinel-Progress, a weekly newspaper, printed, published, and circulated in the City of Glendale.

Adopted and approved this 10th day of March, 1921.

San Bernardino Sends Cauliflower To Market

SAN BERNARDINO — For the first time in its history, San Bernardino is shipping carloads of cauliflower to the eastern markets. Several carloads have been loaded this week by the Western Fruit Distributors who have grown a large acreage this season. The first attempt to grow cauliflower was begun a year ago, and was such a success that considerable acreage was planted this season to supply the early vegetable market in the eastern states.

Mexico has arranged with American firms for a credit of five million dollars with which to purchase equipment for the Mexican railways, according to cable advices from Mexico City.

The tangelo is a new fruit, a cross between the tangerine and the grapefruit, and is more tender than either. The United States Department of Agriculture states there is little or no tendency for the juice of the tangelo to squirt when the spoon is inserted.

37 Soft Boiled Eggs Win Wager For Eater

KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—The town of Rogersville, Tenn., boasts the gastronomical champion of the state, if not of the United States. Herbert Sibert, sixteen, recently won a wager by eating thirty-seven softboiled eggs. Just to prove the theory of inherited talents, Sibert, Sr., then ate ten pounds of honey. Inspired by the prowess of his neighbors, Harrison Childress consumed sixteen cans of potted ham without stopping.

HARDING DECLINES TURKEY

Expressing reluctance to make food out of so valuable a bird while preaching simplicity and thrift, President Harding has written a Rochelle woman declining with thanks her offer of "the flame of bronze" champion turkey at the recent national poultry show for his first Thanksgiving dinner in the White House.

The first woman to be admitted to the bar in China was a former Texas woman, a graduate of the law department of the University of Texas.

REGULAR THRILLER IS STAGED UPON ROSS RANCH

JOSE PAGLIUSO, FOREMAN OF PROPERTY, PROVES THAT HE'S REAL HERO

and in the misty morning dusk the foreman of the ranch sees what he believes to be a jackrabbit in the act of killing a pullet.

"Aha, Mr. Jackrabbit," says Mr. Pagliuso to himself. "I shall jerk your tail off and rap your head against a board."

Mistakes Its Identity

So he grabbed the animal's tail and the blood-curdling yell of a wildcat rent the still morning air.

Scratching, clawing, biting, fighting, spitting, howling; my, how that wildcat scared its captor.

Not enough, however, to cause Mr. Pagliuso to loosen his hold and he picked up a nearby chicken coop and shoved the wildcat into a fenced corner of the yard.

Then he called loudly for help. Selde, who was milking the cows two blocks away, came rushing to his employer's aid.

Selde Uses the Axe

"Kill the cat," was the command.

"Where's the gun?" was the querulous reply.

"Use an axe," said Mr. Pagliuso.

And so be it, an axe was used with good effect.

ACT III.

After breakfast and respite from the excitement the wildcat was measured. Nearly three feet from tip to tip, according to Mr. Pagliuso who has the pelt.

Selde made the rounds of the traps he had set and there were three more wildcats—the balance of the family, probably—one coyote and a raccoon, all penitently paying for poaching.

Selde has sold the three larger animal hides for $10 each. The raccoon is being kept as a pet and there are twenty-seven fewer chickens in Mr. Pagliuso's flock until the mother hens recover from the nervous night last week and start hatching again. And the jackrabbits hide in the bushes for fear they, too, will meet with slaughter since war on wild things has been declared.

TENNIS COURT OF GRASS IS DOOMED

WILLIAM T. TILDEN, CHAMPION, SAYS CONSTANT CARE AND EXPENSE TOO GREAT

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—Within ten years, grass tennis courts will be entirely out of fashion in the United States, according to William T. Tilden, national and international tennis champion.

Tilden returned recently from New Zealand where he and "Bill" Johnson won the Davis cup from the Australian holders.

Excessive cost in keeping grass courts in condition will bring about their doom, Tilden believes.

"At the Germantown Cricket club in Philadelphia more than $5000 is spent annually on the turf," he said. "For championship matches and perfect play the turf must be absolutely flawless. This necessitates handwork on every square inch of the surface."

The champion said on his return home that the courts at Auckland on which the Davis cup matches were played were the finest that could be imagined.

Transported Seven Miles

The turf was taken up and transported seven miles to the stadium where the matches were played. It was laid in little blocks and "nursed" months before the first games. The courts had never been played on until the Americans and Australians stepped out for the first match.

Asphalt, clay or composition courts will be popular in the future, Tilden believes. Use of this material will make it possible to build courts economically and will increase the popularity of the game by encouraging organization of smaller clubs and making the sport available for a greater number of participants.

Tilden, whose career climaxed last year in winning the British national championship, the American national indoor titles and helping to win the Davis cup, is now resting for three months.

He is going to England this summer to defend his title and will be just as active as ever in the American campaigns.

PRICES FOR FOOD IN ENGLAND DROP

EVERY INDICATION DOWNWARD MOVEMENT WILL GO ON IN SPRING MONTHS

LONDON — Great Britain's food prices continued to fall in February, with every indication that the movement downward would continue uninterrupted during the spring months. While February declines were very marked, better progress is predicted during March and April, with a chance that the average level of prices in three months will be down to the prices obtaining when the armistice was signed.

Already the budgets show a reduction of about three shillings in a pound of household prices since October. C. A. McCurdy, food controller, said this week that within a few weeks the food ministry would cease to exist.

To Continue Downward

This is made possible by the break in the world prices of food, which is being daily reflected in the market prices the world over. He said that in discontinuing the control and restoring freedom the department will have every confidence that the food prices will continue to fall and that better times are surely in store for the much-tried housewives of Great Britain.

This week all restrictions on importations of sugar and all regulations regarding distribution, dealings and prices will end. In trade, it is thought this action will lead to price-cutting and the competition will mean free scope for ingenuity in attracting customers, and certain dealers admittedly are none too well pleased and are pleading for common sense and self-restraint.

NOVEL RADIO RECEIVER

With an ingenious turning device arranged in the form of a small book, and using a walking stick as a mast for the antenna wire, a British officer has contrived a radio-receiving set of extreme simplicity and portability, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. By opening the pocket-size book to greater or less degree, and varying the antenna length, reception is adjusted to wave lengths between 300 and 2500 meters. With this equipment, using a regular head telephone, messages have been received from stations more than fifty miles distant.

BIG PRIVATE PHONE SYSTEM

A complete automatic telephone system, with 101 stations and 1227 miles of line is to be built for the sole purpose of communication between the dams and hydraulic works now under construction by the war department along the Ohio river, says Popular Mechanics Magazine. There are 132 of these dams, designed to maintain nine feet of water.

COPPERFIELD HOUSE

Copperfield house, 13 Johnson street, London, is one of the few remaining houses of the several in which Charles Dickens lived as a boy. "When Dickens' father, John Dickens, was released from the unsavory Marshalsea prison," says the London Sphere, "he took the boy from lodgings to live at this house. Charles was at that time working hard at the blacking factory at Hungerford Stairs, and despite his intense loathing of his soul-destroying work, he felt much happier after his reunion with his parents." The house is now to be used as a children's library.

LIKE TO GAMBLE? PLANT DATE SEEDS

BILL IN LEGISLATURE HANGS ON STRANGE FACT; APPEAL BY COACHELLA VALLEY

SACRAMENTO—Should you plant 150 date seeds, all from one palm, you would find the resulting palms bearing 150 different kinds of dates. Thereupon hangs assembly bill 262.

Dates grow in three places in the world—Asia Minor, Africa and in the Coachella valley in California. Dates can't be propagated from seed. Dates don't follow the rule of pre-natal influence. A seed from one date palm will propagate a palm of entirely different characteristics, according to advocators of the bill. And as there are 150 varieties it is considerable of a gamble. And palms don't start bearing until they are eight years old, so the farmer—or palmer—doesn't know whether he struck a good variety or not. So the only safe thing is to propagate the date palms from shoots. This is where assembly bill 262 comes in.

Land and Labor High

Coachella valley is on the sea level—it has a climate and soil suited for growing dates. But owing to the fact that labor and land is high, according to the farmers there they are unable to produce the ordinary variety of date cheap enough to compete with imported dates. So they are raising a larger, firmer and less sticky date, for which they can get better prices. The only way they can get shoots is from their own trees or from Morocco.

But the French government placed an embargo on date shoots. So the farmers appealed to the finance committee of the assembly, gave away a box of sample dates, and asked for favorable recommendation on the bill, which exempts the date palms from taxation for the first eight years. This covers the period in which shoots grow, and this gives the farmers financial encouragement and protection. The bill was recommended.

There are about a total of 1000 acres of date palms in the Coachella valley. The largest tract consists of twelve acres. Date trees live to be as old as two hundred years, the committee was told.

Cabinet Members And Harding Lunch

State R. R. Board Officially Approved

SACRAMENTO, March 11. — The state railroad commission and its work was given what amounted to a stamp of approval in the report of the joint legislative committee on its recent investigation of the commission, which was filed with the senate and assembly today.

Criticism in minor matters was made and there were a few recommendations for changes but the report admitted that "many of the preconceived ideas of members of the committee with regard to the work of the commission and of the public utilities act, have undergone a complete change as a result of this investigation."

ALL PROSPEROUS, IS DECLARATION OF BUSINESS MEN

BRIEF EXPRESSIONS INDICATE THAT GLENDALE'S RECORD IS BEING CONTINUED

While people are writing, talking and thinking about "Glendale's Prosperity" as a result of the campaign initiated by The Glendale Evening News, it is well to hear what those in business have to say on the subject.

Following are several persons' views on the subject, all agreeing, however, that Glendale is most prosperous:

E. S. BLIVEN, manager of the Glendale Paint and Paper Company—Business this month is as good as it was last fall when we could not keep up with the unprecedented demands.

HARRY M. MILLER, realtor and public official here for many years—Sure, business is better now than ever. On Saturday, Monday and Tuesday I turned deals in which homes were concerned, and lots are in demand for building.

A. L. BAIRD, manager real estate and insurance department, Roy L. Kent Company—In our experience here in the real estate and loans we find some who expect the price of houses to come down, but those which are being sold are not any lower than they were two months ago. In fact, they are higher now. Those who wait to get bargains in real estate are going to be disappointed. People should take advantage of the low building costs right now, as the money market is easier on the coast than at any time this year. The country has safely passed the peak of an economic crisis and as soon as the people realize the value of this, present prosperity is assured.

W. A. PAGE, Page-Trice Furniture Company—Although we have only recently established our store, we are doing three times the amount of business we anticipated. To show the prosperity existing here, we have found a better grade of cash customers and credit accounts in Glendale than in any other city in which we have been in business.

Many others echo this sentiment and the letters being received in the prosperity contest indicate that what these persons have said is more than true.

VARIED FICTION AND NON-FICTION FOR LOCAL READERS

BRIEF RESUME OF SOME NEW BOOKS JUST RELEASED BY GLENDALE LIBRARY

A good variety of fiction and non-fiction books were presented to the public at the book review given at the Glendale library yesterday afternoon. They include:

"Kobietz," a novel of Polish life, by Madame Nalkowska. This, the first of Madame Nalkowska's novels to be translated from the Polish, is an extraordinary analysis of feminine psychology. It is vividly outspoken, richly Slavic, capricious—the work of an intellectual rebel.

"The Rose of Jericho," by Ruth Holt Boucicault. A story of the stage that reflects its romance and glamour and at the same time is faithful to that mimic world.

"The Mesa Trail," by Bedford Jones. There are unforgettable people in this book and at the end an unforgettable desert romance.

Delightful Love Story

"Slippy McGee," by Marie Conway Oemler. This is an utterly delightful love story involving a burglar, a priest, some butterflies, two villains and Mary Virginia. By a new writer with a fresh touch.

"Mary Wollaston," by Henry Kitchell Webster. A novel of modern life as changing and as revolutionary, as vivid and as interesting as that life itself.

"Sand Holler," by Belle Kanaus Maniates. Following a rutty bypath in the rural south country, you find "Sand Holler"—peopled with homely and likeable folks.

Duplicate copy of "The University of Hard Knocks," by Ralph Parlette.

"The Earth Turns South," by Clement Wood. A book of poems. Mr. Wood has the rare faculty of knowing and interpreting the true soul of the southern negro in its wilder and more primitive aspects.

Real Business Fiction

"The Business Philosophy of Moses Irons," by Daniel Louis Hanson, in nineteen episodes, each representing a complex business problem, with incident crowding incident until a solution is found. Interesting and exciting. You will appreciate this business fiction and the wholesome and intensely human philosophy.

"An Adventure With a Genius," recollections of Joseph Pulitzer, by Alleyne Ireland. Mr. Ireland, traveler, investigator, litterateur and philosopher, has had many adventures in the course of his strange career, but he considers that his experience as one of the several secretaries of Joseph Pulitzer is the strangest adventure that he ever had. A most remarkable specimen of impressionistic biographical descriptions.

"Our Women," by Arnold Bennett. The readers of this book will enjoy to the full the humor, piquancy and the very shrewd paring of the outer skin of non-essentials from the apple of discord.

FRESHLY IRONED CLOTHES PRAISED

WOMAN WHO DOES HER OWN WASHING AND IRONING IS INTERESTED IN DISPLAY

A rack of clean and freshly ironed clothes is an attractive sight to a woman who does housework, but all passersby are intensely interested in such a display in the window of the Jewel Electric company store, 200-202 East Broadway, this week. From the rack of smoothly ironed clothes the eye travels naturally to the electric ironing machine where Miss Potts, a demonstrator from the Hurley factories, is performing the operation.

The electric ironing machine to one who has never seen one in operation is a marvel. There are only a very few articles that are likely to appear in the family wash that can not be ironed in this way. Miss Potts was ironing a fine white shirt belonging to her cousin, Frank Peckham of this city, while a News representative was in the store this morning, and was using unusual care to have the garment ironed perfectly so she wouldn't come in for a "roasting." It was very interesting to watch how deftly she ran through the collars, cuffs, yoke and other portions of the garment that are so difficult to iron in the ordinary way.

The demonstration will continue the remainder of this week. It is an interesting sight. Take a few garments from your own wash down and watch Miss Potts iron them.

SPECIAL EVENTS AT EAGLE ROCK FOR NEW FAMILIES

COMMUNITY FORTNIGHT TO BE GIVEN; PROGRAM ARRANGED; REX KELLEY LEADER

In the early part of December, 1920, a class in community problems at Occidental college organized as the Occidental Community Service club, under the direction of Mr. Shriver. A canvass of Eagle Rock made by this club, along with other valuable data secured, revealed the rapid growth of the community and the large number of new families who have moved into that district in the last year or so. In Eagle Rock 43 per cent of all those canvassed have lived in the community less than one year. The immediate task undertaken is the friendly and hopeful assimilation of the 300 new families who have moved into Eagle Rock and vicinity within this last year. To this end, quite a unique plan is under way, which will take the form of a "community fortnight," with a varied program, the aim being to enlist the interest and attendance of these new families.

Rex C. Kelley of Glendale, local secretary of the Y. M. C. A., has been chosen executive secretary to manage the fortnight.

Program Is Arranged

The program as arranged by the various organizations is as follows:

1. Easter morning sunrise service, March 27. Auspices of Eagle Rock Chamber of Commerce.

2. Musical and city beautiful night, March 29. Auspices of Women's Twentieth Century club, Thursday Morning Music club and Junior Musical club.

3. Religious education in the community, Sunday night, April 3. A union meeting of all religious organizations.

4. "Our Boys and Girls, a Community's Biggest Asset"; Tuesday night, April 5. Auspices of the Parent-Teacher association, County Y. M. C. A., Daughters of American Revolution and other interested organizations.

5. Field day and gala day picnic, April 9. Occidental college campus. Games and fun for everybody. There will be a track meet, with individual entries from nearby schools, including Glendale. It will be under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., Sunday schools and American Legion, with the co-operation of Occidental college students.

The West Virginia state penitentiary will soon be self-supporting. A coal mine on state property will be operated by the prisoners. The new mine is now within eight feet of a vein of fine coal which underlies 165 acres of the prison farm.

DAMAGED

FURTHER APPEAL IS MADE FOR HELP OF NEAR EAST

WORK IS STILL GOING AHEAD AND THOSE WHO HAVE NOT GIVEN HAVE CHANCE

BY REV. R. W. MOTTERN

Glendale is by no means derelict in helping to lift the burden of starvation, suffering, privation and sorrow prevailing in Bible lands across the seas. To her, appeals from every quarter have not been in vain. The starving in Europe and China, in their direful need have touched her heart and her response is generous. But the outstanding interest in all demands made upon her by outside calls for aid, is that of the Near East Relief.

Her part in this national drama of relief now going on, to lift the pall of human misery, began January 16, when "Field Day" for the Near East Relief was generally observed in all the local churches and in some of the other organizations of the city.

Good Work Goes On

The work is still going on with unabated interest throughout the city. The stirring facts set forth in the little blue book, are securing a most remarkable response everywhere through its circulation among our citizens. Booklet after booklet is filled and sent to headquarters in Los Angeles, bearing its precious assurance to the starving and needy orphans and refugees in Asia Minor, that so far as Glendale can do her bit, they shall not go hungry during this bleak and terrible winter.

Glendale's busy folk in all pursuits of life have underwritten in sponsorship the lives of more than 150 orphan children. And in this, headquarters is glad to place this city at the head of the list in such a liberal response of all her sister southern California towns of equal size, and indeed some much larger.

Urged to Use Telephone

Any citizen of Glendale, not yet doing his bit for the Near East Relief, is earnestly solicited to phone his response to Glendale 1513-W, or call upon Rev. R. W. Mottern, field worker, 211 North Adams street, for there is still direful need among those people and we are challenged to do our best.

Nowhere else save America can the money, the food and the clothing be found to save them. Europe is in rags and without surplus food. If we refuse, they perish. After having saved the world from tyranny and despair, shall America refuse now to make possible the attainments of the high ideals for which she fought so gloriously? Did we fight for liberty and justice only to allow tyranny, oppression and injustice to triumph in Armenia? Did we win the victory only to surrender the principle for which we fought to Turkey, the weakest of our foes? If we did, then surely Turkey will laugh.

Also Challenge to Church

This is the great challenge not only to Christian America, but to the Christian church of America. We cannot raise millions for ourselves, to build more beautiful churches, while at the same time the victims of the most stupendous martyrdom and tragedy of human history are perishing of hunger and all sorts of privations in the Near East.

What will become of America if she fails in her manifest duty, to save the little children, the orphans, of Christian and Jewish martyrs, and the half million girls, stolen from Christian and Jewish homes, now imprisoned in Turkish harems?

America will not fail, neither will Glendale in doing her full share in this work of relief, doing the part of the Good Samaritan. And to make this a surety, requires every red-blooded American to fall into line and help the rest of us in this great service.

Roads To Cut Rates To Stimulate Traveling

CHICAGO—Time is approaching when a traveler will be able to buy a railroad ticket to any ordinary destination without mortgaging his farm. Travel has been unusually heavy, despite the practical doubling of rates, but there is much grumbling. Now the roads are planning to revive the great vacation travel that was interrupted by the world war.

Summer rates were announced recently by practically every road operating west, and reaching Yellowstone national park and other points. Reductions average 20 per cent to 25 per cent on the regular rates and the roads figure this will stimulate tourist travel.

One good feature of the new rates are that there are no strings tied to them. The travelers may start at any time between June 1 and September 30.

NEW SPECIES OF BLACKBERRY

American scientists have discovered the "Columbian berry," a new species of blackberry, about four times as large as the domestic garden variety. The department of agriculture is experimenting on the berry with a view to distributing it to farmers of this country. The berry is semi-tropical in nature and will not stand the rigors of hard winters.

Recent Moves Shown By Public Service

Building construction is on the increase if the requests for new electric light meter installations received at the public service department at the city hall is to be taken as an indication. Moves and orders for new meters received at that department Wednesday are as follows: Mrs. J. C. Bahme, from 134 Franklin Court to 106½ South Orange street; W. R. Light, from 210 West Los Feliz Road to Los Angeles; C. M. Van Dyke, 406 West Lexington Drive; W. F. Council, 359 West Garfield avenue; D. A. Smith, 1220 East Harvard street; Mrs. C. W. CUT MEAT PRICES BY STUDY OF COW

CHUCK IS MUCH CHEAPER AND HAS MORE NOURISHMENT, IS CLAIM BUTCHER MAKES

CHICAGO—If the American housewife will spend one-hundredth as much time in studying the anatomy of a cow as she does in scrutinizing the latest fashions she can easily cut the meat bill in half. This is by the authority of J. T. Russell, president of the Meat Council of Chicago organized by representatives of the United Master Butchers and the Institute of American Meat Packers.

"I'll bet there's not one housewife in a thousand that knows the most nutritious meat is the cheapest, such as plate and chuck meat," said Mr. Russell. "They all know porterhouse and sirloin. That's where the trouble comes in. But they don't know that a piece of chuck meat, at least 25 cents a pound cheaper than the choicest steaks, has greater food value than the most expensive cuts."

Mr. Russell said it would be the object of the council to educate the American public.

New Theory Advanced Regarding Commission

SACRAMENTO, March 11.—A new theory was advanced regarding the immigration and housing commission and the state welfare commission by Max Thelen, who addressed the senate.

"These commissions have been established long enough," Thelen said, "they should have their work so organized that they can dispense with this traveling around the state and putting on extra employes."

He recommended a $31,576 reduction in the appropriation of the immigration and housing commission. The budget places the appropriation at $186,576. He recommended a reduction of $50,505 in the appropriation to the welfare commission, which was set at $130,985.

"There is no need of women traveling around getting pay rolls from employers in various parts of the state at this time," Thelen said. "Employers should be counted on to mail their data in.

"The work of the housing commission should also be standardized, so as to abolish unnecessary traveling. The principals of these commissions are well enough known and there is no need for anything except the routine work."

Thelen, who was formerly president of the railroad commission, urged the slicing of the proposed appropriation for the commission.

BIG FARM LABOR SUPPLY, IS REPORT

PLENTY OF MEN ANXIOUS FOR RURAL JOBS, ACCORDING TO THIS OFFICIAL

COLUMBUS, O.—A home and work, no matter what the pay is, is the general tone of scores of letters being received by Secretary of Agriculture Shaw of Ohio from former farm employes, now out of employment in industrial centers.

"We aren't afraid of hard work, and we are not looking for wartime wages," wrote one young man of 23, who sent in an appeal for himself and a friend, 22 years of age.

That there will be a surplus of farm labor this season and that wages will be nearer to what farmers think they ought to pay than in years is the conviction of Shaw.

All mail sent by airplane is wrapped in an asbestos cloth container that is fastened to the plane by thin steel strips and screws. The fireproof bag has been tested and after treatment in an intense fire the contents were found intact.

Rev. Baker P. Lee Admits His Mistake

LOS ANGELES, March 11.—Rev. Baker P. Lee has admitted that he erred when he performed the wedding ceremony here January 22 uniting Alfred I. DuPont, multi-millionaire Delaware powder magnate, and Miss Jessie D. Ball of Los Angeles, it became known today.

As a result of the clergyman's admission, plans to compel him to stand trial before a jury of his peers of the Episcopal church have been abandoned, it was announced.

Frederick C. Valentine, chancellor of the Episcopal diocese of Los Angeles, said he was in receipt of a letter explaining that the Rev. Lee now "recognizes the fact' that he failed "through a misunderstanding" to comply with the church law when he married DuPont and Miss Ball. There is an ecclesiastical canon which forbids a clergyman to remarry a divorced person without the approval of the bishop of the diocese.

Valentine asserted the issue has been settled and that Bishop Johnson of Los Angeles and the standing committee of the diocese have decided that "there appears to be no occasion for further action in the matter."

The Rev. Lee's admission came as a surprise. He had steadfastly contended that he violated no church rule. At that time church dignitaries were determined to institute charges with a view to his unfrocking.

MONEY IS SENT TO AID SERGEANTS

FORMER SERVICE MEN COME TO ASSISTANCE OF VETERANS DETAINED IN GERMANY

WASHINGTON — Three hundred dollars was forwarded to Paris post No. 1, the American Legion, Paris, France, as a first installment of the defense fund being raised by the Stars and Stripes among ex-service men for the defense of Sergeants Frank Zimmer and Carl Naef, veterans of the A. E. F., who are held in jail at Baden, Germany, for the attempted kidnaping of Grover C. Bergdoll, notorious millionaire draft dodger.

Commander Francis E. Drake, of the American Legion in Paris, cabled the Stars and Stripes accepting its offer to raise a defense fund and pledging the Legion post to administer the money. The cable states that a lawyer has been engaged to defend the sergeants by a Legion representative sent to Germany from Paris post. Drake asked for 4000 francs at once, which is more than covered by today's remittance.

SORROW IS REWARD FROM PHILOSOPHY OF ERRING ONE

CLARA SMITH HAMON, AS HER TRIAL STARTS, EXPRESSES VIEWS UPON LIFE

Editor—I have always wanted to be a newspaper reporter. Therefore I avail myself of the request of the United Press to give it a message on the day my trial starts. — Clara Smith Hamon.

By CLARA SMITH HAMON
(Written for the United Press)
(Copyright, 1921, by the United Press)

ARDMORE, Okla., March 11.—Sorrow is the sole reward of the philosophy of the ungodly.

Those who take the cue of "Eat, drink and be merry for tomorrow ye may die," for their part in life think they are happy. But it is only the deepest of sorrow in the guise of temporary bliss.

This is usually realized when the tragic crash comes—then it is too late.

This is the lesson I want the readers of the United Press to draw from the strange case of Clara Smith—a clerk in a country store ten years ago and now with a fervent wish that she was still back in humble Lawton.

Fighting for Her Freedom

Back in the days of my early youth a man came into my life—but I'll skip over the story—the world knows it only too well.

It is enough for you to know that I am today charged with murder; that I am fighting hard for freedom.

Why? Because I was unable to overcome a man's indomitable will; because I became steeped in philosophy of the ungodly.

This carefree and reckless but poisoned philosophy comes disguised in the form of pretty lyrics:

Here is one that I once believed, but the mockery of it all comes home to me now:

"You are wise; you take what the gods have sent.
You ask no questions but rest content.
So I am with you to take your kiss,
And perhaps I value you for this.
For this is wisdom: to love, to live,
To take what fate or the gods
may give;
To ask no question, to make no
prayer;
To kiss the lips and caress the hair.
Speed love's ebb as you greet its flow—
To have—to hold—and—in time
—let go!"

I would that the false phophets could be driven from the Temple of Life to save the girls who are now at the crossroads choosing their path.

UNIFORM DRESS AT SCHOOL WILL BE BALLOTED UPON

KIND OF COSTUME THAT WILL BE WORN IS SUBJECT FOR VOTE NEXT TUESDAY

Girls at Glendale union high school will vote next Tuesday on the matter of uniform dress. The Girls' league issued an edict at the opening of the year that uniform dress should be worn, but that has been disregarded.

As a result, Miss Doris Packer is leading a movement to bring about a reform in this matter.

The senior girls already have voted to dress in dainty white creations of moderate prices rather than have a fashion show at commencement.

It is probable the dresses will be made of organdie, as satin and taffeta have been eliminated by the girls' decision.

Many Head Of Sheep Ready To Be Clipped

BAKERSFIELD — Approximately 350,000 head of sheep will be clipped in Kern county this season, according to Louis V. Olcese, leading wool grower of this section.

Sheep shearers of the Pacific coast have agreed to a reduction of 14 per cent in the scale of wages for sheep-shearing and the reduction will be effective this season in the San Joaquin valley, according to John W. Carr, sheepman.

Fifteen cents a head and board is asked by the shearers instead of 17½ cents a head and board as paid last year. The reduction was made, Carr said, in view of the depressed condition of the wool market.

TEN BIG PROBLEMS ARE BEING FACED BY PRESIDENT

ADMINISTRATION'S SIXTH DAY IS OPENED WITH HARDING SEEKING SOLUTIONS

By RAYMOND CLAPPER
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 11.—The Harding administration, now in its seventh day, is confronted by ten big problems.

Some of them are near solution. Others are being considered today by the president and his advisers.

Withdrawal of Troops from Germany—The president has decided to delay this move until after the new allied-German crisis is over, lest withdrawal might be interpreted as a gesture of friendship to Germany.

Taxation and Tariff—Harding has caused congressional committees to start to work on a taxation program, along with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Railroads—Before making any decision on the railroad problems involving claims of the roads that they are making no profit and the possibility of higher freight rates, Harding has determined to wait the result of a congressional investigation. This investigation would be ordered under a resolution prepared by Senator Cummins, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee.

Mexico—Two sets of advice have been placed before Harding on Mexico. He is considering both. One calls for immediate recognition of the Obregon government without condition. Another would exact promises of protection of American rights as a condition for recognition.

Separate Peace—The promise to have the Knox resolution, ending the war with Germany, passed soon after Harding took office, has met an obstacle in the shape of the difference between the allies and Germany on reparations. Harding fears passage of the measure now would be regarded as a repudiation of our late associates in the war.

Merchant Marine—Harding wants an adequate merchant marine and will do everything possible to encourage one. The details of the program, however, await progress of the new shipping board, which Harding has not considered in any definite way.

Naval—Harding has declared for an adequate navy. It is believed, therefore, he will approve the further construction of battleships as well as airplanes. He is getting data on which to base recommendations so congress can get to work on the naval appropriation, which failed last session.

Disarmament — Disarmament is the one big question which Harding has been loath to discuss in any definite way. Congressmen who have said they believed he would call a disarmament conference soon after his inauguration declared they saw no reason as yet to change previous utterances.

Budget System and Economy—Harding favors the budget system for government expenditures and will call for its immediate adoption in his first message to congress. At the same time, he will declare against opening new fields for government expenditure.

Philippines—Harding doesn't favor Philippine independence, according to best indications. He asked Major General Leonard Wood to make a study of the Philippine conditions and one of Wood's purposes will be to quiet the agitation for independence in the islands.

DISPLAY CAUSES GREAT INTEREST

HYDRO-STONE MATERIAL WINS PRAISE; LOCAL CITIZENS GET COMPANY HERE

Considerable attention is being attracted by the display of Hydro-Stone in the window of the store room at 104 East Broadway. Inquiry reveals that this material, which is widely used in eastern cities though comparatively new on the coast, is manufactured by the California Hydro-Stone company, which is planning to locate in Glendale through the efforts of two public-spirited Glendale citizens, Charles B. Guthrie and John R. Gray.

Hydro-Stone is a mixture of concrete moulded under heavy pressure into the form of building units and then cured in steam rooms to prevent rapid evaporation. It can be moulded into many different shapes and sizes. Facings of innumerable color and texture effects are applied by using screenings of granite, marble, quartz, etc., rivaling in beauty the most handsome natural stones.

Hydro-Stone is the material with which Halifax was rebuilt and many large structures in the large eastern cities of the United States stand as testimonials of its effectiveness as a building material.

CITY'S SCHOOLS TO BE EXAMINED BY COMMITTEES

NEEDS WILL BE DETERMINED AS RESULT OF INQUIRY BY LOCAL CITIZENS

Oliver O. Clark, well-known attorney with offices in Los Angeles, last night was named chairman of the committee of nineteen which will make a report on the grammar school situation.

A representative number of the committee was present to confer with the Board of Trustees and the crowded conditions of the schools again were given a thorough airing, after which the problem of relief was discussed in its entirety.

It was decided to name sub-committees to present the needs of the different schools with a view of incorporating their reports into that which the committee will return to a mass meeting which will be called in several weeks.

BLUE LAWS HERE? SURE THERE ARE!

POSITIVE PROOF OF FACT IS OFFERED LAST NIGHT AT GLENDALE THEATRE

You'd never think so many blue laws were enforced in Glendale.

But they were. Yes, indeed.

The preview of "Jottings from Judge" last night at the Glendale Theatre showed many familiar scenes where the police were busy stopping picnics, motor rides, street car rides and even eating by the book of "Blue Laws."

It was a James W. Horne production and made here in Glendale by him who is well known for his association with various film enterprises.

Wanted: Better Subtitles

In filming the magazine of humor, he has applied the ideas to the picture in an admirable way, but the editing of the initial volume is woefully weak. Like the first night at a musical comedy, many of the jokes went "clear over the heads" of the spectators and this was principally due to the lack of convincing subtitles at the proper spot.

Otherwise, the thought is there and if Mr. Horne supplies the words to put the "kick" into the pictures, the "Jottings from Judge" series is an assured success.

DUAL ROLE TAKEN OF TWO BROTHERS

COMPLICATED SITUATION IS PRESENTED ON SCREEN AT GLENDALE THEATRE

What would you do if you had a brother standing in your shoes?

A brother who was taking credit for what you were?

A brother as manly in many ways, but lacking the confidence to play his part in the world alone without deception?

That's the complication in the Edgar Lewis production, "Other Men's Shoes," which appears at the Glendale Theatre today for the last time. It shows you how this predicament in family life worked out in one time. Crawford Kent plays the dual role of the two brothers.

"Tails Win" is a Century animal comedy that kept the kiddies gleeful last night and Pathe News gives the high spots of the day's events in pictures.

Organ Recitals Sunday Night

Sunday organ recitals by Madame Clement at the Glendale Theatre will be given in the evening hereafter, preceding the regular show from 6:30 to 7:15 o'clock.

Whereas an extra charge has been made previously for the afternoon concert, only the usual evening prices will admit music lovers to both the organ and film program, according to Manager William A. Howe.

Campaign Costs For Both Parties Secured

WASHINGTON—Campaign costs of electing a president of the United States in 1920 were $10,338,509, as estimated by the special senate investigating committee which filed its report with congress. Of this amount Republicans spent $8,100,739, while Democratic expenditures were $2,237,770.

The compilation took into account only the expenditures made by or in behalf of all candidates of Republican or Democratic presidential candidates and of national, state, congressional and senatorial committees of both parties.

PLANS TO RECLAIM RICH LANDS ARE AIDED BY POPE

FIFTY THOUSAND ACRES TO BE IMPROVED; COST ESTIMATE IS ABOUT $50,000,000

By HENRY WOOD
United Press Staff Correspondent

ROME—Under the inspiration of Pope Benedict, plans are at last definitely under way for the reclamation of the famous Argo Romano, lying between Rome and the Mediterranean.

American and English capital have been found to back the project which, when once attained, will render fertile some fifty thousand acres of land that for centuries have produced nothing but malaria, shrubs and weeds.

One of the most marked economic effects of this transformation will be that of rendering Rome self-sustaining. Owing to the sterility of this vast tract, as well as other portions of the Campagna Romano surrounding Rome, the latter has never been able to produce enough foodstuff in its immediate vicinity to meet its needs.

With these fifty thousand acres of the Argo Romano under cultivation however Rome hopes to be able to feed herself.

Expense of $50,000,000

The reclamation of this tract of land is expected to require six or seven years and will entail an expense of $50,000,000.

While Pope Benedict's interest in inspiring the project was largely humanitarian, there were also reasons why the Vatican was directly interested. First of all the great part of this tract of land is owned by old families of the Papal aristocracy and Roman nobility. In the past it has been largely their refusal to interest themselves in the reclamation of their estates that has made all the latter economically a dead loss to Italy.

Pope Benedict has taken the position that in the present world-wide economic depression, all countries should do their most to cultivate all unproductive lands. Also the war served to reduce the value of the private fortunes of the old Roman nobility to such an extent that they cannot afford to let their estates go unproductive.

As a consequence, the economy which has been organized under the inspiration of Pope Benedict for the reclamation of the Argo Romano is composed largely of these old Roman noble families whose estates go to make up the great bulk of the tract. It is they who have secured the necessary English and American capital for the project.

To Restore Old Seaport

Not only is it intended to make the entire tract fertile and productive as it was centuries ago, but it is also proposed to restore the old Roman seaport of Ostia, which would also render Rome virtually a seaport, owing to the connection with the Tiber. It was the latter, that, dumping alluvial deposits for centuries into the seaport of Ostia, finally destroyed the latter and during the same time the great tract of the Argo Romano gradually became sterile.

In still another respect the Vatican will profit by the project. In the eventual reconciliation between the Vatican and the Quirinal, which is now being gradually worked out, it is certain that the Vatican will be given an extra-territorial strip of land connecting up the Vatican with the sea and thus assuring the popes complete liberty. This little papal state, running through a highly productive and populated district rather than the present dreary waste, would enhance greatly its value from every point of view.

One-third of the potential food-producing area of the world is under cultivation and the crops raised on that one-third increase yearly, thanks to agricultural science.

The word "please" used in telegrams alone costs the United States $3,000,000 yearly, yet it is cheap at the price.

SCHOOL CHILDREN OF COUNTRY MENACED BY FIRE TRAPS

DATA COLLECTED FROM MANY CITIES SHOW BUILDINGS IN DANGEROUS STATE

NEW YORK—Tens of thousands of school children housed in fire traps and hundreds of thousands of them either on half-time or in makeshift buildings is the condition in 429 cities of the United States as disclosed in a report made public.

The report was issued by the National Committee for Chamber of Commerce co-operation with the public schools on a survey conducted by the American City Bureau.

The committee was organized in February, 1920, to inquire into school conditions. Its executive committee is headed by George D. Strayer of Teachers' College, Columbia university, New York.

The evidence presented "shows clearly that there are tens of thousands of children now housed in old, unsanitary, dangerous buildings," says Mr. Strayer in his introduction to the report. "Many of these structures are best classified as fire traps."

Data from 429 Cities

Data were received from 429 cities. The report says:

"These facts, obtained from 75 per cent of all the cities reporting, show that in these cities, even excluding those housed in annexes where conditions may be normal, there are more than 453,000 children who are either on half-time because of lack of building space or are housed in portables, rented buildings, attics, basements or corridors. It would require an average of two thirty-room buildings in each of these cities to properly house these groups of children alone."

The report sets forth statistically the inadequacy of playground space. "It is clear that in many cities children are now housed in buildings in which there is less space on the playground than is supplied in the classrooms in which they are taught," says Mr. Strayer in the introduction.

"Three million six hundred thousand children are represented in this report on playgrounds," it is stated, "and the study discloses that one-half of them—1,800,000 children—have each a playground less than six by six feet per pupil and many of them have no playground at all.

Limited Playground Space

"These facts of limited playground space," says the report, "present one of the serious problems confronting those who are interested in the welfare of American school children. Whatever the cost, adequate playground space should be provided for those school buildings already erected in congested districts. Public sentiment must become so strong that it would be considered a breach of trust for school authorities to erect a school building on a site that will not afford adequate playground space for all the pupils housed in the building."

On the subject of fire hazard in schools, the report states: "Only 5 per cent of the total number of buildings are of the types of construction usually called fireproof. Only a small number have fireproofing elements to lessen the fire hazard to the children.

Without Fire Protection

"At least 25 per cent of the two poorest types of buildings are of two or more stories and do not have a fire escape. Thirty-nine per cent of these two types are without fire extinguishers, and less than 10 per cent of them have automatic sprinkler equipment in any part of the buildings. Only 11 per cent have automatic fire alarms. Such facts as these demonstrate the existence of a real menace to the children of these cities." One-half of present-day schools were built prior to 1897.

The report directs attention to "the large number of children between the ages of 13 and 16 years who leave the public schools." "There is probably no more serious problem or one more difficult to solve now facing the people of this country," it says.

According to the reports from 290 cities, 6 per cent of the children have left school before their thirteenth year, 19 per cent before 14, 38 per cent before 15 and 64 per cent before they are 16 years old.

State University Has Greatest Registration

BERKELEY—The University of California now leads all universities in the United States and probably in the world in registration, according to a statement recently received here from Raymond Walters, registrar of Lehigh university and secretary of the American Association of College Registrars.

Walters in his statistics of registration of thirty American universities for 1920, gives first place to California with a full time regular students registration of 11,071, a grand total of 16,379 resident students, and a final sum total of 36,904 instructed persons. Columbia is given second place with 8488 students.

California also leads in the number of women students in attendance.

EXTRA LIGHTS

An ingenious car owner recently equipped his bus with two extra lights, low down in the rear fender, completely illuminating the running board. He believes also that the lights make it safe to pass other cars at night, and contribute to good running. They are controlled from the dash by an extra switch.

Of the 9000 motor vehicles stolen in New York last year, fewer than 5000 were recovered.

PALACE GRAND IS CROWDED BY WELL PLEASED AUDIENCES; ACTING IS PERFECT

The crowded houses at the Palace Grand theatre for the last two nights undoubtedly will be more than duplicated this afternoon and tonight at the last showings of Mary Pickford in "The Love Light."

It is a simple story of Italian fishermen—so simple that even the smallest child attending laughed and cried as the will of the star directed from the silver screen. Mary Pickford in the role of the unassuming, penitent outcast, whose heroic action saved her baby from the sea proved that she is still the greatest artist of the photoplays.

Mary's Acting Makes Picture

Truly, it is Mary's acting that makes the picture. It is her naiveness, her delineation of the simple life that tugs at the heartstrings and elicits the sympathy of humanity in the part which she plays. A person who likes to laugh and cry and enjoy a good eight-part comedy drama should see "The Love Light."

The Toonerville Trolley comedy, "The Skipper's Narrow Escape," proves a mirth-provoker seldom equaled while Nils Gilliam, directing the Palace Grand orchestra, dispenses music equal to the pictures.

CLEVER PROGRAM BY LITTLE FOLK OF KINDERGARTEN

MISS ALICE LIVSEY GIVEN MANY COMPLIMENTS ON WORK OF TRAINING

A very clever program was given by the tiny folks of the kindergarten classes of the Central avenue school at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher association yesterday afternoon. A large number of parents and friends were present to hear the treat which the little folks had prepared for them. The program given was as follows:

Song—"The Springtime," by the boys of the kindergarten.

Song—"A Sweet Pea Lady," by the girls of the kindergarten.

Action Song—"Frogs," by the boys.

Ribbon Games — "Pussy-Cat," "Oats," "Peas," "Beans," "Barley" and "Sing a Song of Sixpence," by all the children.

Song by the Boys—"Mother Goose," sung in pantomime.

"Little Boy Blue"—John Elliott.

"Simple Simon and the Pieman"—Harold McNeill and Oliver Loomis.

"Wee Willie Winkie"—Willard Hollins.

"Rock-a-bye Baby"—Lucian Horton.

"Diddle Diddle Dumpling"—Robert Gahler.

"Little Jack Horner"—Herbert Matthews.

"Jack Be Nimble"—James Apffel.

Marching Song—All the children.

Drilled by Miss Livsey

The children had been drilled by Miss Alice Livsey, who had also prepared their costumes in which they appeared.

After the program the regular business meeting was opened by Mrs. W. A. Campbell, the president, with a salute to the flag. Plans were discussed for having a food sale March 19.

The picture for the month was awarded to the kindergarten class, they having had the largest number of parents present at the Parent-Teacher meeting. Songs by Mrs. E. C. Kent with Mrs. C. M. Taylor at the piano closed the meeting, after which a social cup of tea and cake were enjoyed.

THOSE BOLSHEVIK WHISKERS

Colonel Damfinovitch, commanding a Polish regiment against the Bolsheviks, tore open the message from the front.

EDITION OF FAMOUS NEWSPAPER SAID TO BE FORGERY

ULSTER COUNTY GAZETTE OF JANUARY 4, 1800, IS AGAIN ATTRACTING ATTENTION

CHICAGO—Perenially and usually about this time copies of the most noted newspaper forgery of the country—the Ulster County Gazette of January 4, 1800, with its account of Washington's funeral—comes to light. The only other newspaper imitation of the kind that compares is the duplication of the Vicksburg Citizen printed on wall paper during the siege in 1862.

"I doubt if there is a genuine copy of the Ulster County Gazette of that date in existence," Edward A. Henry, who is in charge of the University of Chicago's collection of old newspapers, said here today. "At any rate, I have never seen one, nor do I know of anybody who has.

"Wilberforce Eames of the New York Public library told me half a dozen years ago that he had made the most careful examination of copies of the Gazette submitted to him as genuine—even to chemical analysis of the paper—and had almost come to the conclusion that there never was an original.

Many Editions on File

"At the Library of Congress I was told they had twenty-six different editions. The New York Public Library lists nine in its latest catalogue. We have three, each different from the other.

"I suppose there was once a genuine Ulster County Gazette of the date named, from which all these subsequent copies have been made. The fact that the Wisconsin State Historical society, which has the largest collection of old newspapers in the Middle West, lists two copies of an Ulster Gazette for August 18 and September 22, 1804, strengthens this belief.

"The account of Washington's funeral is accurate and interesting. No fault can be found on that score, although I think reports of the funeral in other papers of the same time are in several instances still more striking.

It may have been that many years after the funeral some printer, probably in the vicinity of New York, for Kingston, Ulster county, is on the Hudson, thought to produce something of interest to others and profit to himself by making a fac-simile of an original account. Had he taken a New York paper, the publication could have been instantly detected and perhaps for this reason the obscure Ulster county paper was made to serve.

Only Effect Can Tell

"The trick evidently went well and perhaps it was this same printer that put out many of the subsequent editions. That is all supposition, of course, but there is no doubt of the multitude of editions. Their genuineness only an expert can pass on in most cases. The test is the paper. Most of these copies were made before 1850, but not early enough to have used the fine linen rag paper of 1800. That soft paper will be good for many hundred years yet, while the earliest Ulster County Gazette we have already is badly discolored.

"Variations are found in the printing of the different editions of the same date. In two of our copies the name of the paper is set in italics, in the other it is not. The enterprising publisher of the newest of our forgeries added the word 'copyright.'

"Perhaps the people of the day recognized the Ulster County Gazettes in circulation as mere facsimiles. But no doubt many treasured them up as genuine. Every now and then one turns up in a trunk in some old attic and the finer thinks he has a great prize. The University of Chicago has half a dozen copies submitted to it every year. We are greatly interested in old newspapers—but we are buying no more Ulster County Gazettes reporting Washington's funeral."

Greatest Of Vessels On White Star Line

NEW YORK—The former German liner Bismarck, largest ship in the world, recently purchased by the White Star line from the reparations commission, is to be renamed the Majestic. She will be the second notable Majestic to fly the British flag. The original ship of the name was launched in 1889 and broken up in 1914.

The new majestic, 56,000 gross tons, is about five times the size of her predecessor. She is yet to see service, being in the last stages of completion when the war broke out.

She is now being made ready for her new owners by German workers in Hamburg, in compliance with the peace treaty.

The Majestic exceeds the tonnage of the American steamer Leviathan by 1800 gross tons. The next in size is the Imperator, recently purchased by the Cunard line, a 52,022-ton craft.

The state of Maine uses eighty-four motor vehicles in its highway department.

SHIPPERS TO FIGHT RATE SCHEDULES OF RAILROADS

LOWER FREIGHT CHARGES ARE SOUGHT; CONFERENCE WILL BE HELD IN CHICAGO

CHICAGO—Shippers of the country are on strike against high rates charged by carriers.

The strike is aimed to obtain lower freight rates, just as the buyers' strike of last year forced down commodity prices.

A conference of shippers of the country has been called in Chicago to discuss shipping and transportation problems.

"The present high level of freight rates has helped to demoralize business of the country," the call for the meeting said.

All shippers, including farmers' organizations, manufacturers' and consumers' associations, were invited to send representatives to the meeting.

The conference will not be especially antagonistic to the carriers, it was pointed out by those who issued the call.

Excess of About 340,000 Cars

In explaining the seriousness of the situation, shippers' organizations declared that shipping had dropped off to such an extent that, where there was a shortage of 100,000 cars a week at this time last year, there is now an excess of approximately 340,000 cars weekly.

Shippers have quit sending goods because rates are too high, it was stated by Clifford Thorne, representing some shippers' organization.

"The increase of rates granted August 6 was planned to net the railroads $1,700,000,000 annually," said Thorne. "This has proven a higher tax than the shippers will pay and they have quit sending goods, and the carriers are up against it for revenue. Instead of increasing the income of the railroads, the increase in rates has really resulted in decreased revenue."

Prices of livestock are on practically a pre-war level, livestock shippers pointed out, while freight rates are approximately 70 per cent higher than before the war. Shippers of sheep, they claimed, often get no more than $1 a head for their animals after paying freight charges. They cited some instances where shippers realized only 32 cents a head after paying heavy freight charges.

Would Realize Small Profits

Grain shippers declared that if a farmer shipped corn from the Missouri river to New York at present prices he would realize only about 2 cents.

Railroad executives here declared their operating costs, such as labor, had not decreased and until there was a decrease they could not lower rates.

Among those who joined in the call were farmers' and grain shippers' organizations and attorneys general of midwest states fighting in the supreme court the last increase granted railroads by the interstate commerce commission, as applied to intrastate shipments.

HARDING SERVANT PROBLEM SOLVED

GOVERNMENT PROVIDES FORCE FOR WHITE HOUSE; COST $30,000 PER YEAR

WASHINGTON—Mrs. Warren G. Harding found her servant problem solved for her when she became mistress of the White House today.

Cooks, chambermaids, laundrywomen, butler and pantrymen—twenty in all, are provided by the government at a cost of $30,000 a year, and there is a housekeeper who has been in charge of the servants since the administration of former President Taft. Previous to that time a steward was in charge.

Only the expense of the personal servants which a new president and his wife may choose to have accompany them to the White House is borne by the chief executive.

Keeps Her Own Cook

Mrs. Harding has retained the services of Inez McWhorter, her cook, and a chauffeur, but she found at the White House four cooks retained by the government and four chauffeurs.

The matter of supplying the White House table may not prove as simple, for all food purchased, whether for the private table or for state functions, must be paid out of the pocket of the chief executive. Caterers to the White House usually are selected by the housekeeper unless the "first lady of the land" desires to follow particular preferences which may previously have been formed.

HE WAS SORRY FOR HER

A man recently testified in divorce proceedings that he married his wife out of sympathy, and that nearly all men did likewise. Always thought it was the girl who married the man to make some other girl envious.

Letters Giving Reasons Why City Is Prosperous

CITY'S POSSESSIONS AND NEEDS TOLD IN BRIEF WAY

RECITES WHAT GLENDALE HAS AND WHAT IT REQUIRES; HOMESITES AWAITING

Setting forth what Glendale possesses and what Glendale requires, Mrs. F. W. Harper, 508 Fairmont, writes as follows:

What Glendale possesses: Superb scenery. Six-mile boulevard to Los Angeles. Thirty-minute electric car service to Los Angeles. Excellent roads. Splendid climate. Progressive citizens. Enterprising business concerns. Strong banking institutions. Two energetic daily newspapers. Beautiful homes. Healthy children. School children are 98 per American. Handsome public library building. Active churches. Tourist club with recreation grounds. Wonderful openings for industrial enterprises.

What Glendale requires: Independent postoffice building. Two good hotels, one tourist, one commercial. Many apartment houses. Electric belt line car service for city. City parks. Public playgrounds. Y. M. C. A. building. Y. W. C. A. building. Nine thousand people to make a city of 25,000.

In a nutshell, Glendale is an excellent place in which to rear children as a moral atmosphere pervades the entire city. The quiet of the country is enjoyed on many streets, while the main thoroughfares and boulevards, well lighted and paved, are alive with life and activity. Glendale is also a good place for those not blessed with the coming generation. Glendale is the best place for those who have raised one generation. A home or a homesite is awaiting you here as approximately $3,000,000 in building permits were issued in 1920 and approximately $500,000 in building permits have been issued to date in 1921 and Glendale stands the ninth city in progressiveness in the whole state of California. Glendale also produced a 400 per cent increase in the last census. Prosperity! Prosperity! Prosperity! "Welcome to Glendale."

361 NEW BANK CHARTERS

WASHINGTON—During the fiscal year ending October 31, 1920, charters were granted to 361 new national banks, and twenty-seven applications for charters were rejected. On October 31, 1920, 259 applications for charters for new national banks were on hand and awaiting the comptroller's decision.

CLIMATE, BUSINESS, STREETS, SCHOOLS AND CHURCHES

GLENDALE HAS EVERYTHING TO BE PROUD OF; NEWCOMERS TELL EASTERN FOLKS

C. H. Ambrosch, 644 North Pacific avenue, writes the following regarding Glendale and prosperity:

Glendale's prosperity and growth can be attributed to numerous causes. First of all, climatic conditions are such as to make it one of the healthiest places to live in. Its beautiful and picturesque location cannot be surpassed anywhere in the United States.

Its stores and merchants are up to date, and compare very favorably to those of the larger cities. Prices are as reasonable as anywhere in the country.

Its citizens are people of the better class which the many beautiful homes indicate. Streets and boulevards as well as lawns and gardens are kept in the pink of condition the year round, and are highly praised by visitors.

Homes to the amount of over $3,000,000 were constructed during 1920, and at the present rate of building permits, 1921 will go above the 1920 mark, which was an American record.

Glendale's municipal affairs are conducted by men of integrity and high standing. Taxes are lower than those of cities with less improvements. Schools are one of its great assets.

Most all of the above facts contribute to the prosperity of Glendale and are considered by newcomers, the consequence being, they locate in Glendale, much like the Englishman who died and went to heaven. Good old Saint Peter showed him the beautiful sights, when they finally came to a cage, where a number of people were locked in. Upon inquiring why they should be locked in a cage in heaven, Saint Peter informed him, "They were all from Glendale, Calif., and should he unlock the cage, he knew they would all return to Glendale."

SUIT FOR RUSSIAN FUNDS

NEW YORK—The federal government, as asignee of the All-Russian Central Union of Consumers' Societies, Inc., brought suit against the National City bank to recover $2,581,289, alleged to have been deposited by the Russian organization two years ago.

IDEAL SETTING FOR PROSPERITY AND FOR GLENDALE

SAYS ADVANCEMENT OF CITY IS LARGELY DUE TO BIG ADVERTISING CAMPAIGN

Here is what Ben F. Bolen, 369 Myrtle, has to say on the subject of Glendale and prosperity:

Picture a city of artistic bungalows peeping out from their drapery of ornamental vines, flowers and shrubbery; with a business center, schools, churches and theatres second to none. A city nestling between the mountains whose rugged lines stand out against the horizon.

Here is natural scenery which attracts the largest film producers of the world. The climate is unsurpassed. Scenic boulevards, steam and electric lines closely connect the metropolis of the Pacific coast. The great ocean less than an hour's drive away is lined with her many pleasure resorts and good harbor facilities. The surrounding valleys are rich in their production of fruit, vegetables and farm products. In short, this is an Ideal Setting for Permanent Prosperity.

Those who live here may recognize this "rough sketch" as Glendale, but no word picture can bring out a full likeness of Glendale's beauty, prosperity and opportunity.

Our building operations have been and are a maze to those who have heard but not seen. And why not—when our gain has exceeded in percentage any other city of like proportions in the United States?

Glendale's Prosperity is largely due to the nation-wide advertising campaign, not only carried on through the newspapers which are voicing our attainments, but also by personal letters from practically every home in our fair city. These letters are being sent to a host of friends and relatives located elsewhere.

We are a City of United Boosters because it is a rule of human nature to desire prosperity for our friends and relatives, especially if we ourselves are prosperous.

A home-loving people—enjoying Glendale's Prosperity, shouting Glendale's Prosperity, has made Glendale's prosperity.

BEN F. BOLEN.

There is more lumber consumed in forest fires in America every year than all America's sawmills manufacture in a year.

100 PER CENT FOLK HERE; THEY MAKE CITY PERFECT

IDEAL CITIZENSHIP GOES TO FORM IDEAL COMMUNITY, IS VIEW OF WRITER

Mrs. M. K. Goss tells why Glendale is prosperous in the following:

In the first place a town must offer in its location attractive trade and physical features as a lure to desirable people. "Beautiful for situation" is Glendale, occupying a broad valley, near the center of which is the business section of the town, sloping gradually upward to the foothills, beyond them the mountains, in the far distance the lofty peaks, changing from their mantle of snow to the draperies of purple and gray, which vanish under the brilliant sunlight of mid-day or the red gold of the sunset. If "a thing of beauty is a joy forever" then most certainly the views around Glendale are an endless feast to the appreciative eye.

In every community the people are the main asset. We can't expect 30 cent people to produce a 100 per cent town, the residents of Glendale belong to the 100 per cent class, moral, religious, intelligent, progressive. An ideal citizenship naturally leads to a city government of the same character, so that good schools, good water, ample and efficient lighting and heating facilities, good streets, parks and playgrounds, is the slogan with both the governed and governing. Street cars interurban and bus lines, together with the finest highways the world can boast, provide ample facilities for local transportation and communication with Los Angeles and surroundings, both urban and rural. Outside of Paradise, one could hardly find a more desirable climate than can be enjoyed in Glendale. Situated as it is between the mountains and the sea, the air is always exhilarating with no extremes of heat or cold. No blighting frosts, no northers, no blizzards, no sandstorms. Perennial sunshine with flowers always in bloom.

Two national railways link Glendale with the eastern states. On the west lies the Pacific ocean, affording an open trade door to the entire Pacific coast, to the isles of the sea, to far distant eastern markets and through the Panama canal a water route to our Atlantic seaboard and to the countries of Europe.

TOO MUCH MONEY BAD; MAKES GIFTS

THIS MAN HAS ALL HE NEEDS SO HE GIVES IT AWAY AT END OF EVERY YEAR

PHILADELPHIA — "Too much money is a bad thing. I have all the money I need, but I like the battle of life, so each year I play the game. When the year is ended I give away all the money that I have left after paying my expenses for that year. I have no desire to pile up a great amount of money," Thomas E. Mitten, president of the Philadelphia Rapid Transit company, said.

Mr. Mitten, former head of the Chicago City Railway company, said the idea of giving his surplus money away came to him through his experience with Nelson Robinson, a New York banker.

"I watched the pleasure he got by giving money," Mr. Mitten said. "When I was 40 years old, sixteen years ago, I reached the mark I set." Then the giving away began, he said.

"I do not wish to deprive my son, Dr. A. A. Mitten, of any of the pleasure of life or of making money. Therefore, I will not leave him any when I die," Mr. Mitten added. He refused to discuss the manner in which he distributes his money.

Men Smarter; That's What Tests Indicate

BERKELEY—Psychologically speaking, the men students of the University of California are smarter than the women, according to the results of recent "intelligence" tests conducted on the campus as part of the routine entrance examinations.

In a report issued by Professor Thomas M. Putnam, dean of the lower division, the tests reveal that the men stood two points higher than the women. The tests were taken by 592 men and 519 women, including freshmen students who were compelled to undergo the mental tests with the regular routine examinations.

In education the United States occupies ninth place, which means that most of the civilized world is ahead of us, according to official report of the House Committee on Education.

RESIDENT OF CITY FOR NINE YEARS STATES VIEWS

SUSAN M'TAGGART TELLS OF COMING TO CITY, BUYING HOME, SEEING GROWTH

Susan M. Taggart, 330 Hawthorne street, has this to say regarding Glendale and prosperity:

Since I have enjoyed Glendale's hospitality for nine years, I take pleasure in speaking of her prosperity. As Glendale's people have grown so she has grown.

The feeling of newness and a future attracted me. As I nestled in a California house overlooking the grape vines of the west section, the kindliness of my neighbors made me feel at home. Mr. Roberts' bees, however, reluctantly gave place to my White Leghorns. I planted a garden. The early pink stock was lovely. The carrots the gophers ate.

Do you remember the last Glendale barbecue, held on the corner of Broadway and Louise streets? The Pacific Electric brought train loads of people from Los Angeles. Also many from the San Fernando valley gathered to enjoy the day with the people here.

Up Verdugo canyon, down which our mountain water comes, I saw my first forest fire. On the Verdugo mountains I gathered sticky monkey-flowers, the wild heliotrope, the scarlet bugler, and the blue and white lupine. Near the house I heard the mockingbirds sing; and, watched the red throated linnet eat the blossoms of the apricot and peach.

An account was opened with Mr. Harrison of the First National bank, in the room north of the station. I liked it all and I stayed. Letters told about it to the folks back in Indiana.

Then I bought a lot; and joined the West Glendale M. E. church. May Brothers, contractors, built my house. Furniture came through Mr. Porter; and gardening tools from Cornwell & Kelty; dry goods from Mr. Williams and Mrs. Baxter, and groceries from Mr. Wilkin. He will sell you a lot now. I was sick and Dr. Thompson helped to cure me. And I have been taking care of and telling eastern people, ever since, that this is a nice place in which to live.

Many other people have been doing the same thing. My home has become so valuable that I almost want to sell or rent it, as a welcome to the incoming stranger and to move farther out, where I can look over the grape vines once more and start afresh.

EXEMPT HOMES FROM TAXES

NEW YORK—The board of estimate adopted the ordinance exempting from taxation to the extent of $5000 a year for the next ten years all buildings erected for dwelling purposes in the greater city. The ordinance, designed to relieve the housing shortage here, now goes to Mayor Hylan for his signature, whereupon it becomes effective.
